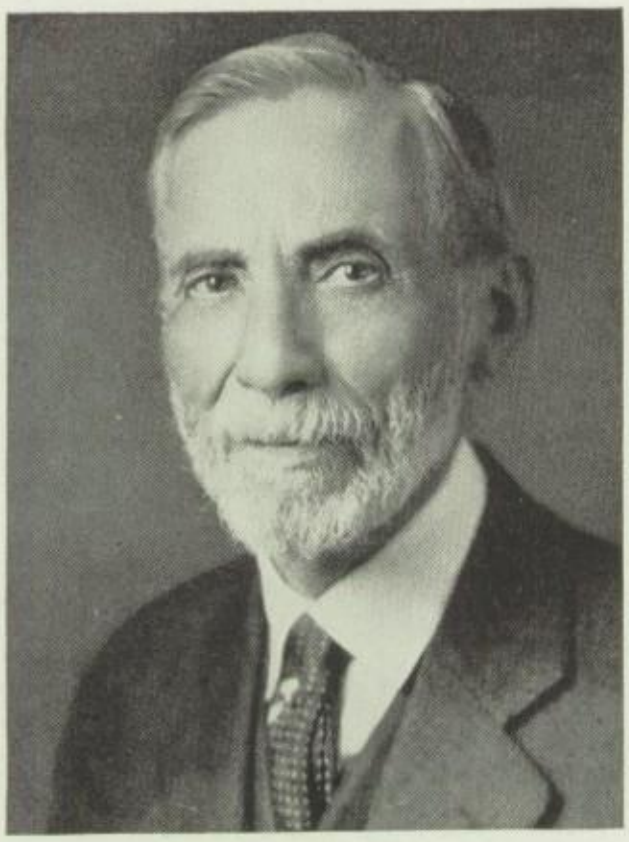
Foreword

Wishing to bring those outside the school closer to us, and hoping that we have established a perpetual source of memories for those within, we, the class of nineteen hundred and twenty-nine, create this Kabekonian, the annual of our senior class

DEDICATION



In recognition and appreciation of the invaluable services and untiring efforts of the pioneer of our school board, we, the class of nineteen hundred and twenty-nine, do respectfully and affectionately dedicate this annual

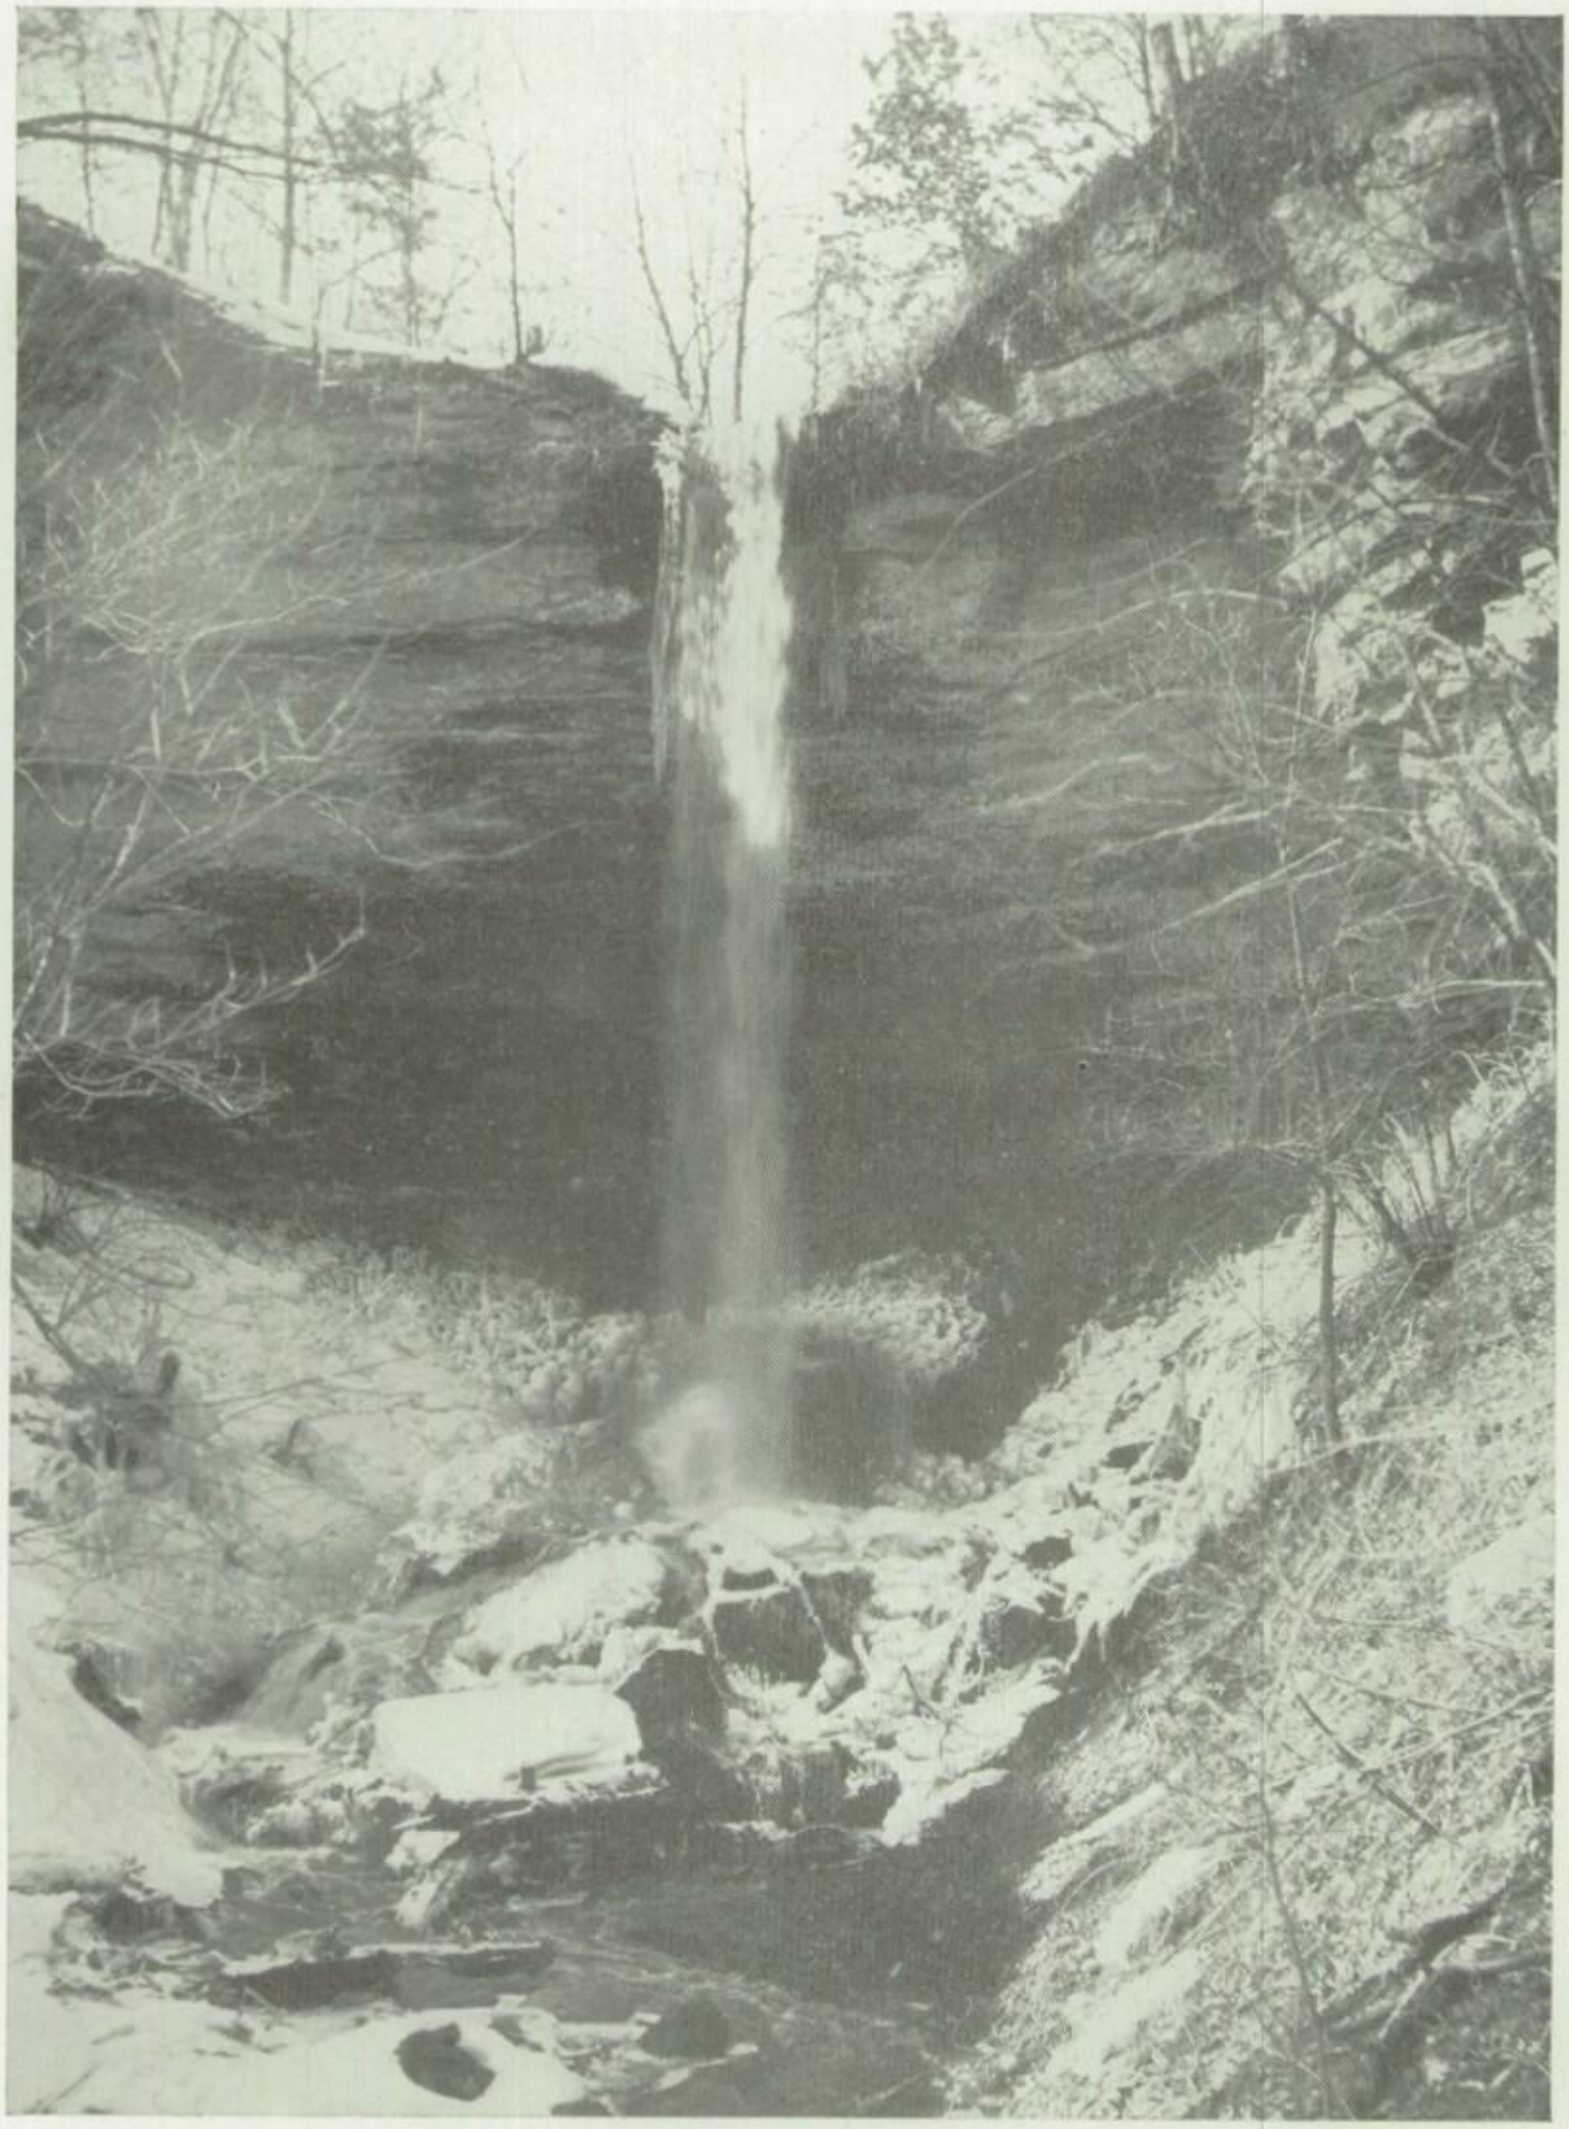
John Berrien '29



I chatter, chatter as I flow
To join the brimming river;
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.

—Tennyson

How beautiful is the night,
A dewy freshness fills the silent air.
In full-orb'd glory yonder moon divine
Rolls through the dark-blue depths.
—Robert Southey

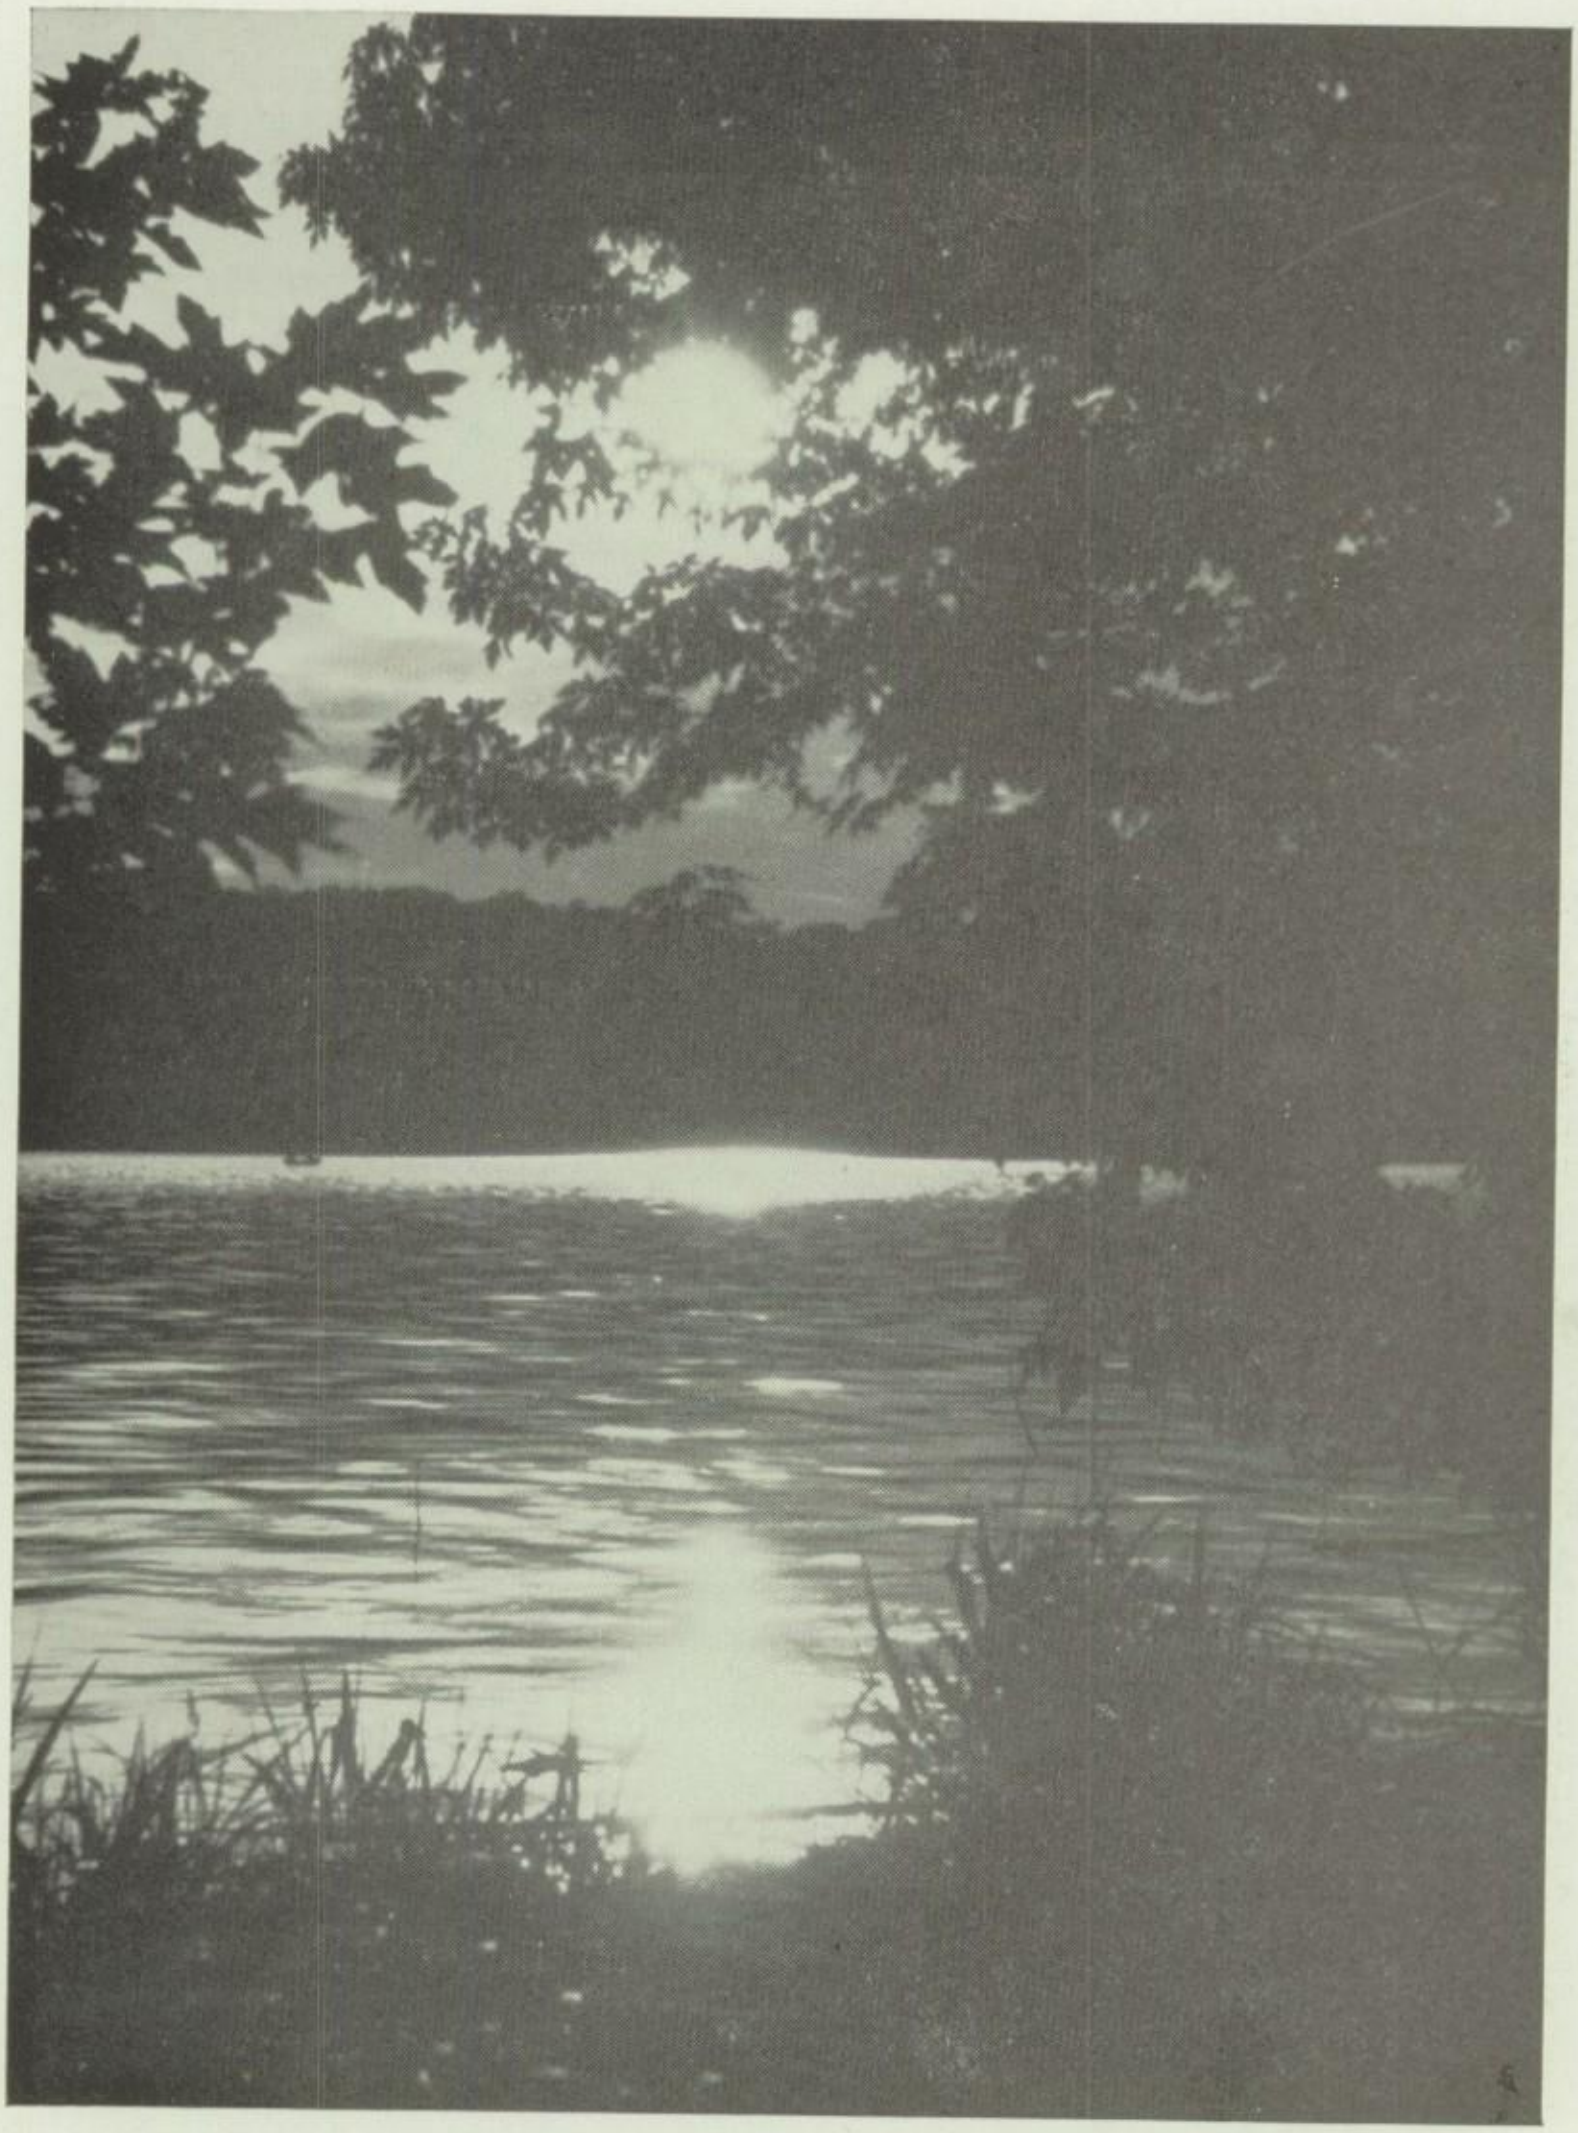
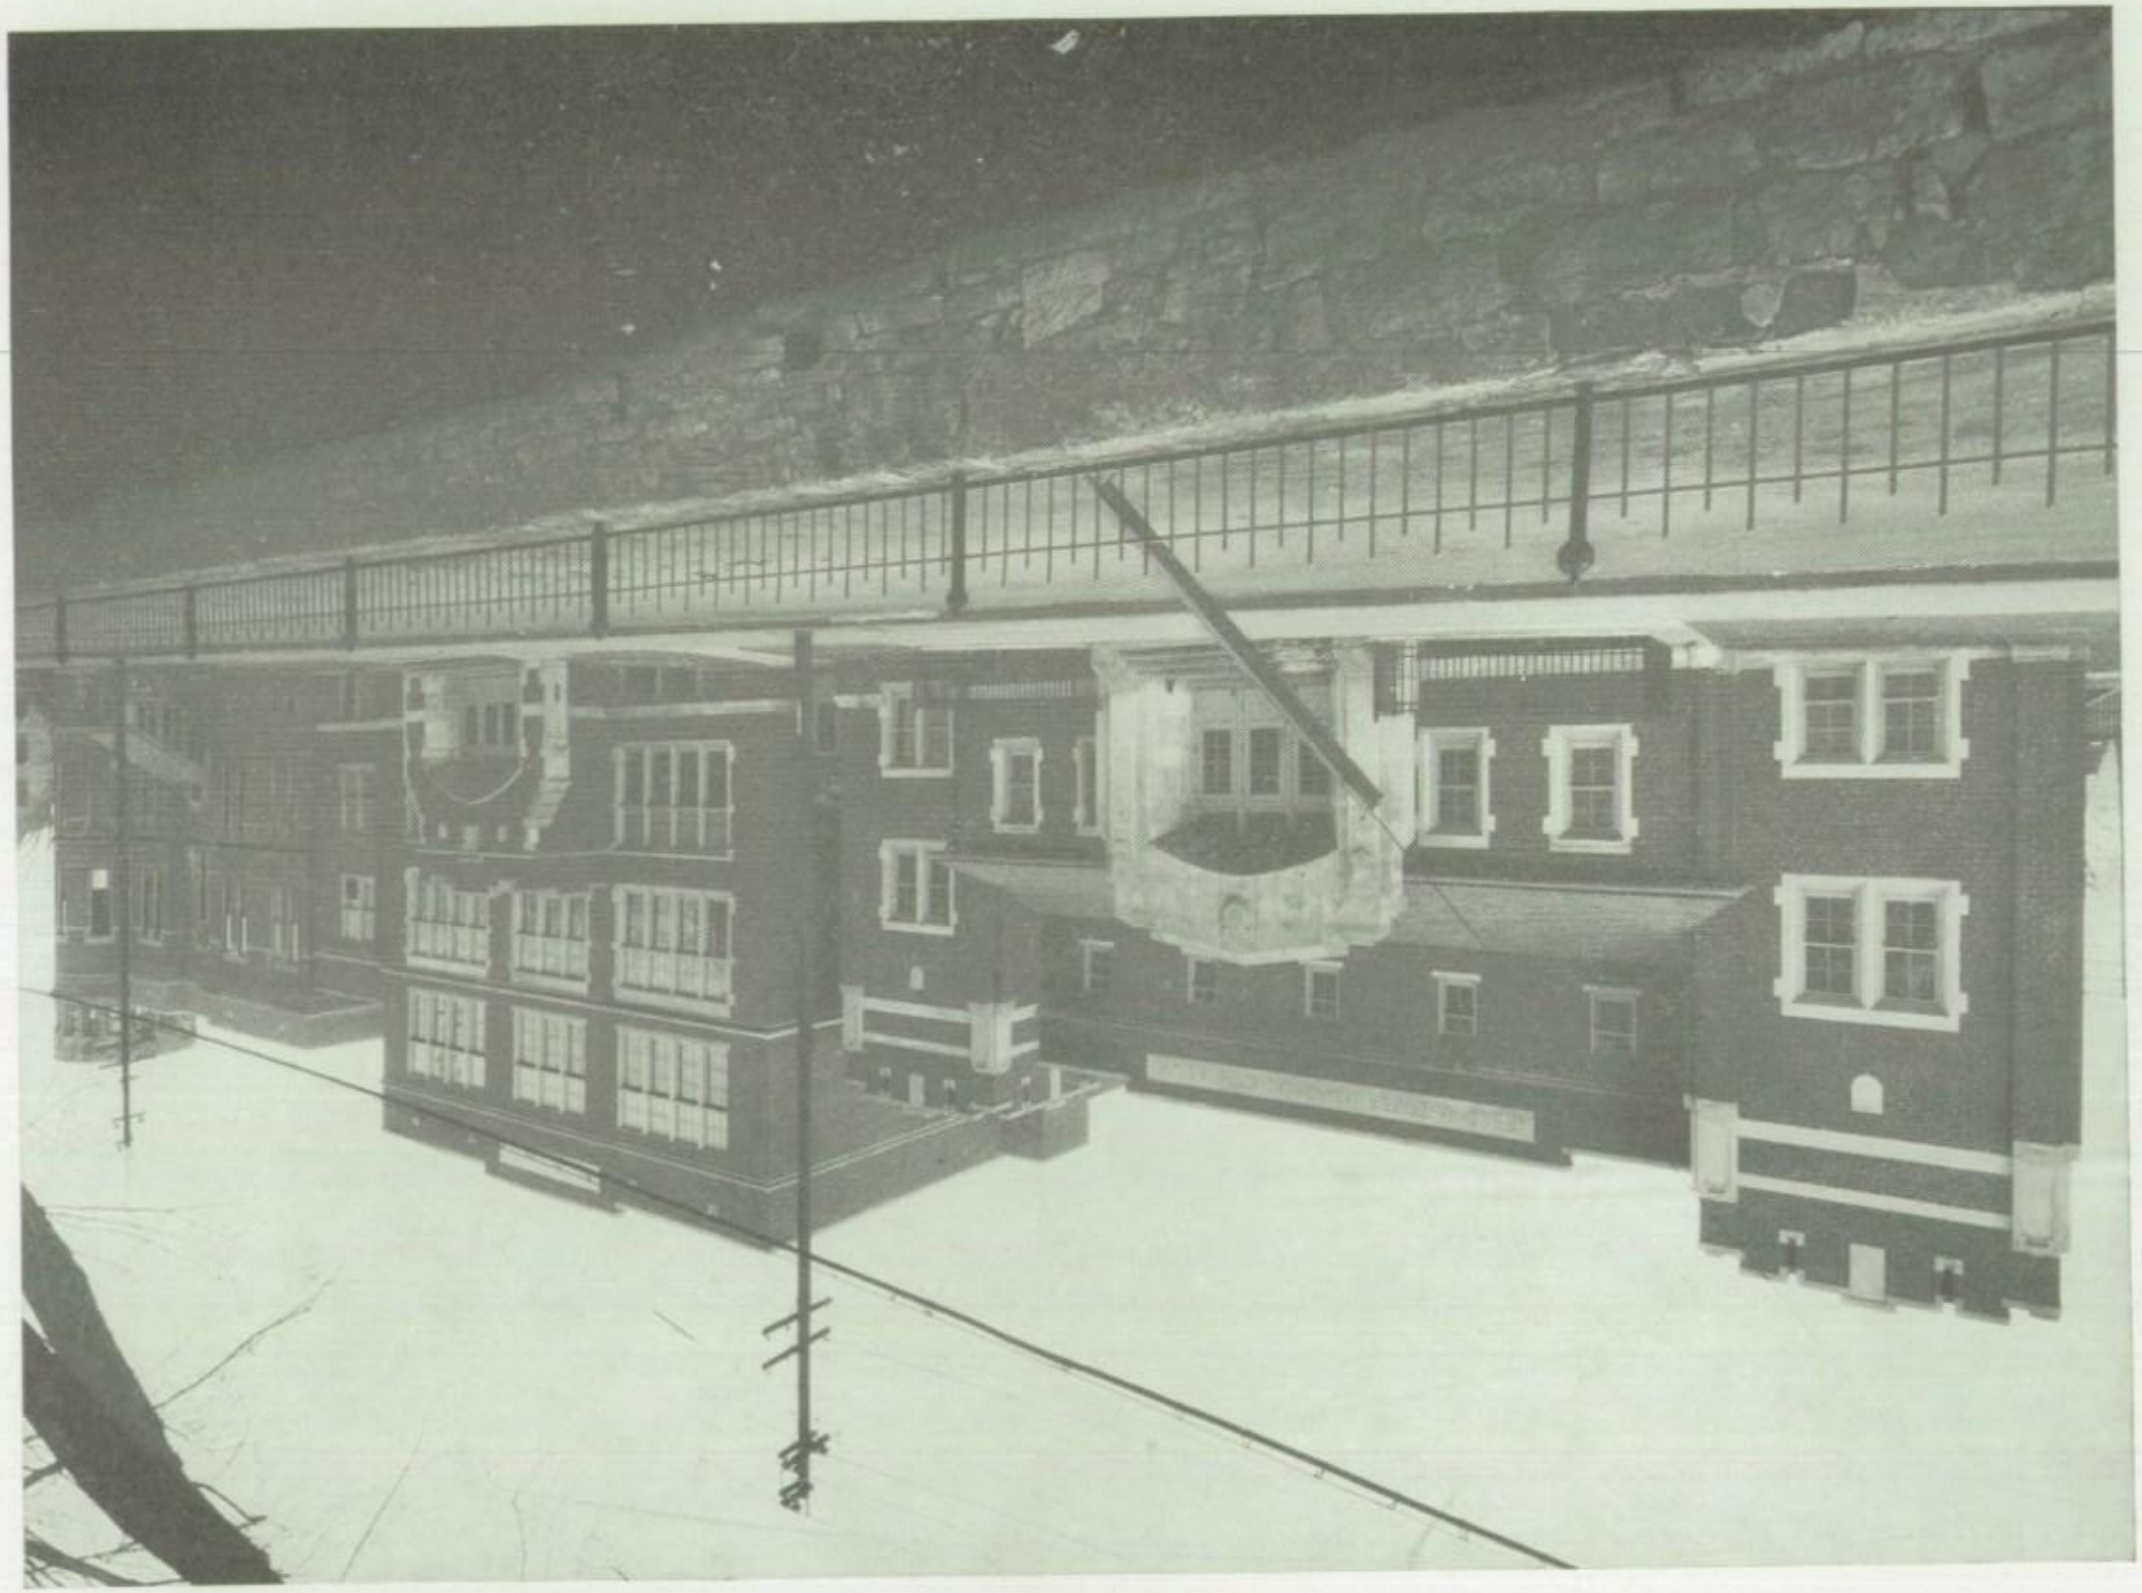
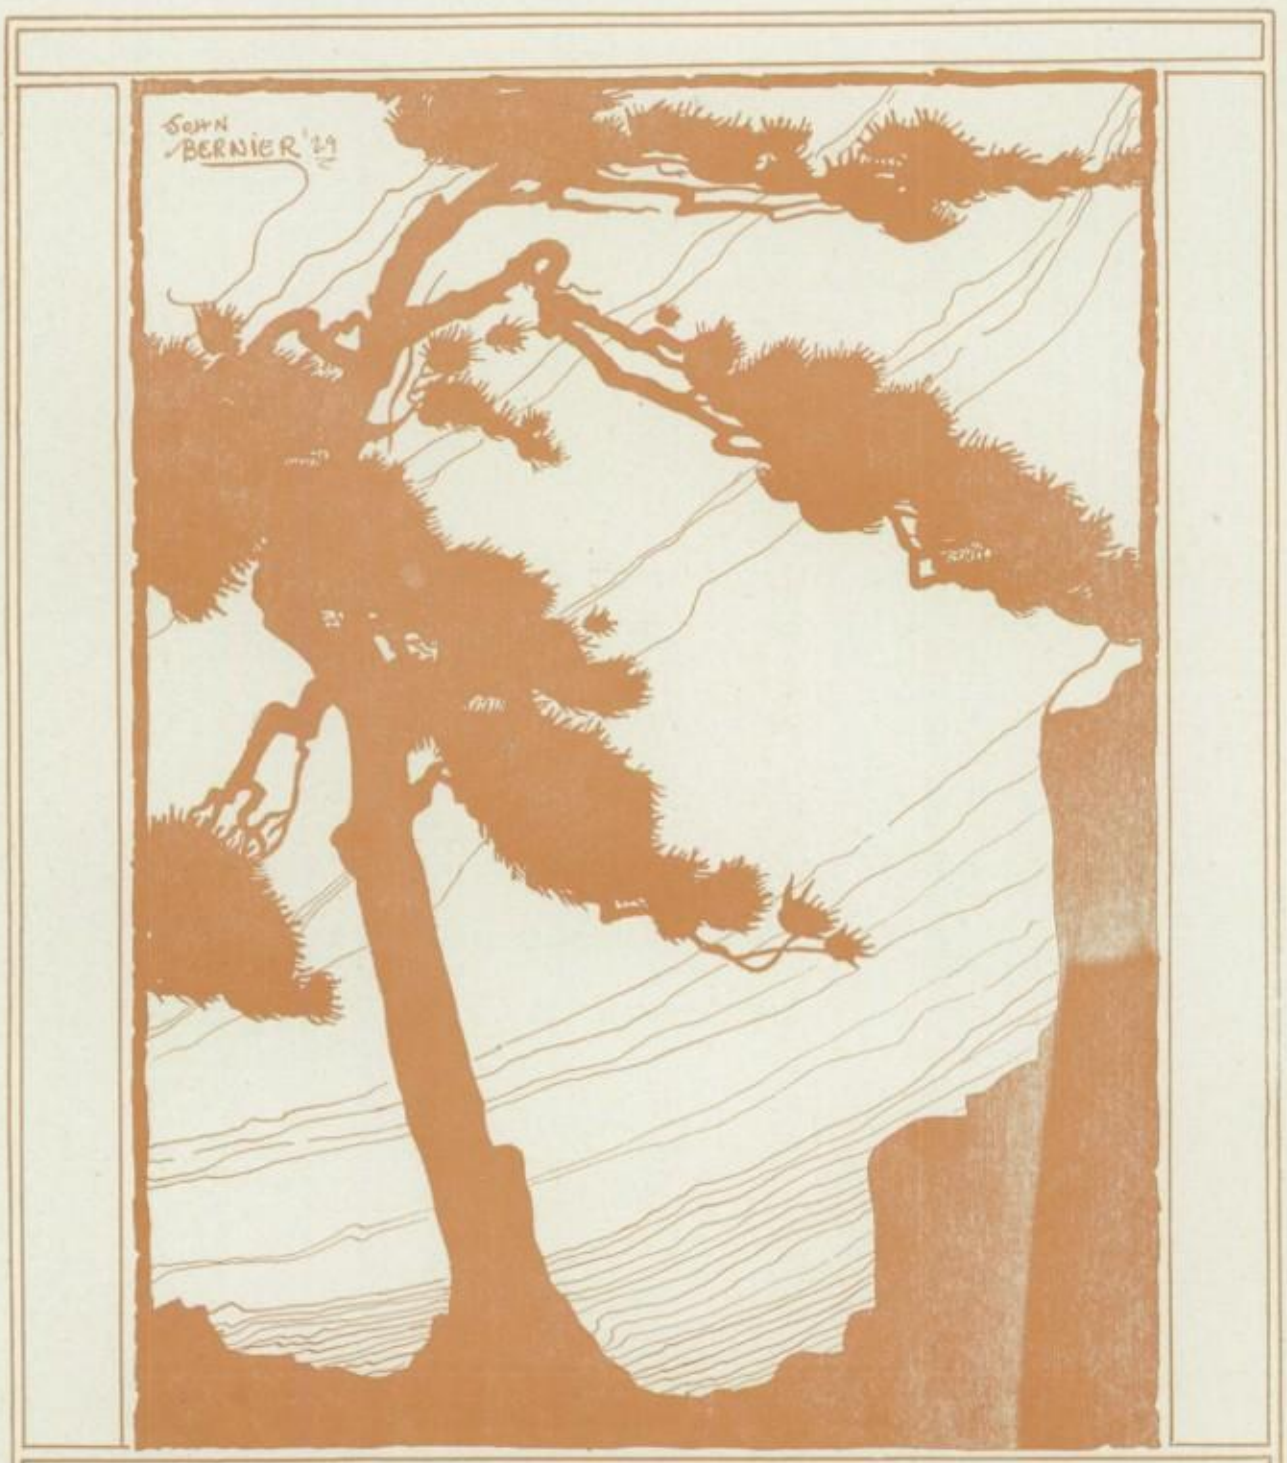
I chatter over the stony ways,
In little sharps and trebles,
I bubble into eddying bays,
I babble on the pebbles.

—Lord Alfred Tennyson



I wot of a place where the virgin sod
Declines to the bank of a rapid stream
Where the swift moving waters shimmer and gleam.

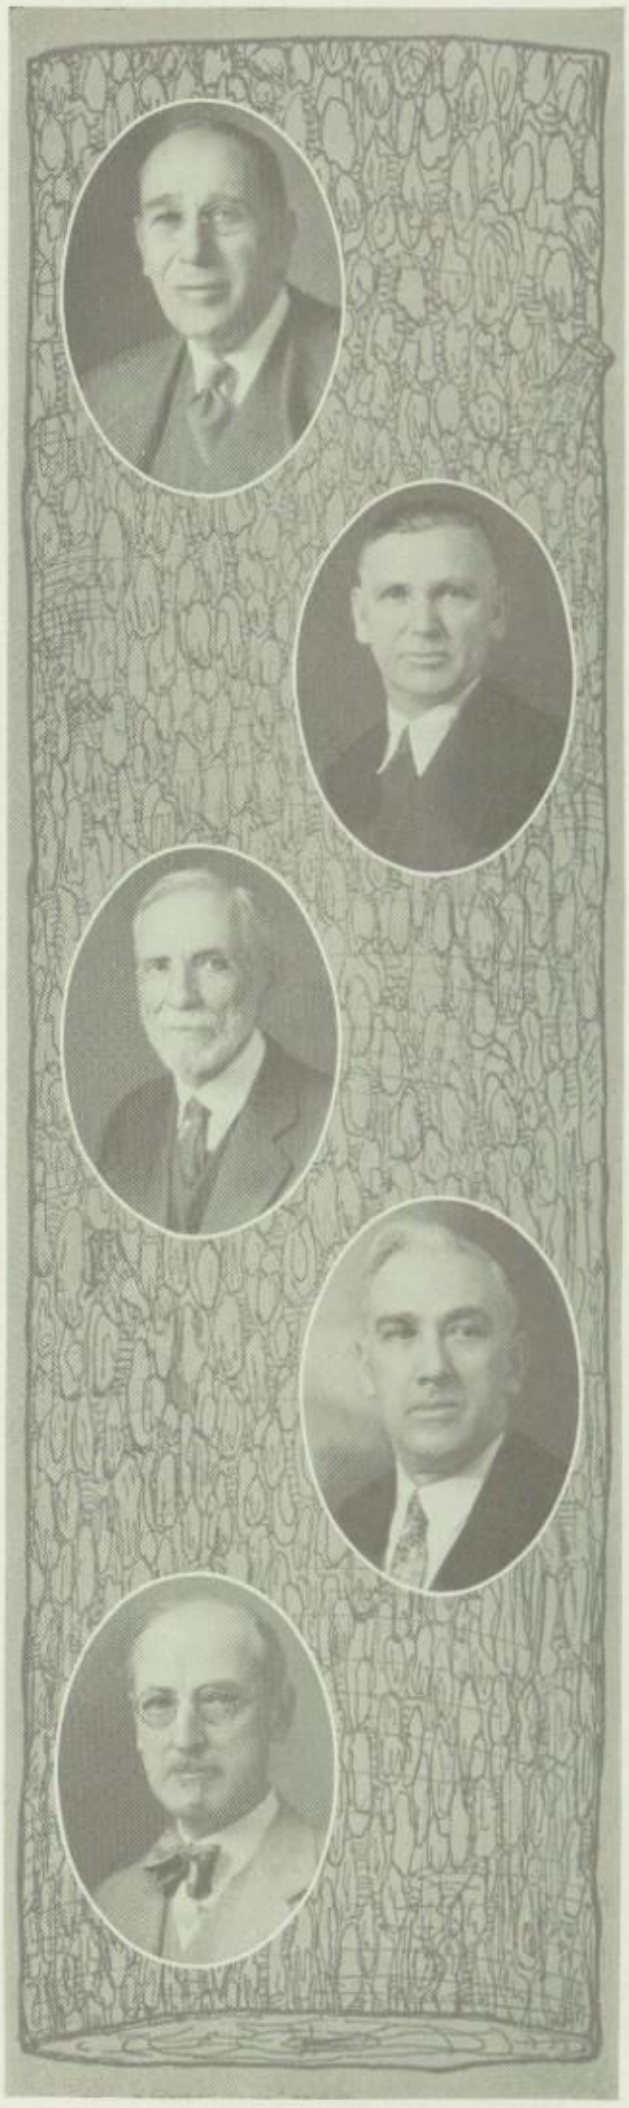




ADMINISTRATION.

The true purpose of education is to cherish and unfold the seed of immortality already sown within us; to develop, to their fullest extent, the capacities of every kind with which the God who made us has endowed us.

BOARD OF EDUCATION



J. D. BRONSON

President of the Board. Member since January 1, 1919.

"A man whose foresight places his hopes in succeeding generations."

C. J. ENGLIN

Director of the Board. Member since March 11, 1919.

"Because he understands us, we benefit from his decisions."

A. J. HOLM

Secretary of the Board. Member since 1897.

"Of as noble mein, as of mind."

W. J. MADDEN

Vice-President of the Board. Member since January 1, 1919.

"An able man who is unpretentious."

H. C. ROBERTSON

Treasurer of the Board. Member of the Board 1902-1905, 1912-1915, 1919—

"An advisor whose words are weighed in gold."

GUY D. SMITH, Superintendent

Kalamazoo College, A. B.
U. of Chicago, A. B.
U. of Minnesota

Mr. Smith is a true example of kindness. Pupils could very well take Mr. Smith and mold their lives after his. His understanding and kindly ways are appreciated by all. One feels that he can always go to Mr. Smith in trouble and receive advice and help, for Mr. Smith has made kindliness the keynote of his life, and we challenge the world to find a man more kind than he.

Mr. Smith works with and for the school. He emanates a cheerfulness which is infectious. His talks in assembly are homely, heart-to-heart talks which strike home their message faster than any flowery speech. Besides, his speech has some special thought for everyone, whether it is of encouragement, cheer, or helpfulness.

J. OSCAR JOHNSON, Principal

Gustavus Adolphus, B. A.
Graduate Work U. of M.

Mr. Johnson has proved a very able executive of our high school. He has advanced new ideas and put these ideas into a successful practice. He has been a worthy principal and friend.

One of his characteristics is especially outstanding and has been inculcated in the minds and bodies of the students and is embodied in the very heart of the school system. This is his love of discipline. He has taught the students of the school a disciplinary code which will stay with them in life. Few people realize the importance of discipline as brought forth in government. Mr. Johnson introduced into the Stillwater High School a very efficient form of student representation which has been a very successful undertaking since its organization some years ago.

Every student in high school appreciates Mr. Johnson's principles and attitudes, and although they may not have liked them at the time, in the end they realize his value as a guiding hand.

The Junior class, or the class of 1930, had a most successful and pleasant year under the leadership of Miss Kielty, our adviser, Margaret Benham, our president, Lulu Grove, our vice-president, and Lois Egaard, our secretary-treasurer.

Our class party was exceedingly well attended. The gymnasium was decorated in appropriate autumnal grains. In the school queen contest, our class queen, Lois Egaard, won the royal award through the hearty support of theJuniors. Our declamatory team was made up of Rudolph Lehmicke, oratory; Edith LaMonte, dramatic; and Audrey Jackson, humorous. Audrey won first place in the district meet, representing the school. The Junior one-act play was very interesting. The members of our class also helped to make the Benefit Play and Shakespeare's Dream a success. Our athletes came bravely forward and offered their services, when the time came around for intramural sports, and, as our section of the trophy case shows, they had some success.

From steady association, the members of our class are now very well acquainted, and are ready to be "all for one and one for all" so that the remainder of our school life may be a success. From our class next year are to come those who will be selected to uphold the honor and glory of the school, and our members are ready and willing to give the required servants and services.

CLASS of 1931

JAMES VESALL
President

ROBERT KERR
Secretary-Treasurer

The good ship S. H. S. 1931 had a very successful voyage this year. The captain was James Vesall; purser, Robert Kerr; and the ship's adviser, Miss Rose. It sailed from the port of the Freshman on September 7, 1928 and got away to a good start over Scholarship ocean towards its final destination of New Juniorville. After about six weeks, a number of the crew were suddenly afflicted with the queer disease, flunkia, which has a duration of three weeks. Some of the crew quickly recovered, while others were under the effects of it for most of the voyage. Another disease which certain members are easily affected by is called "room 123." This disease can be cured only by Dr. Johnson, a physician of high standing in the country of S. H. S. Another disease seafaring students often fall prey to is commonly named "gum-squad." Dr. Johnson is a specialist in this malady also. His prescriptions to patients are said to do lots of good. Our crew, however, was more fortunate than the average in escaping these diseases.

Early on the voyage, all the passengers and crew celebrated at a ball. The dancers "strutted their stuff" to the tuneful syncopations of Ernie's Rhythm Rustlers. A good time was enjoyed by all, but due to a slight carelessness on the part of the crew and too few attending, the ship nearly was lost on the rocks of Financial Embarrassment. The ship's officers saved her by heroic exertions.

We had members of the crew who were famous in their line. Sheldon Johnson took first place in oratory during the annual dramatic contest with the three sister ships, the majestic S. H. S. 1929, the S. H. S. 1930, and the small but hard trying S. H. S. 1932. Two of our crew, Sheldon Johnson and Mildred Peterson, were on the all fleet debate team. We also had a group of actors who put on, "Bimbo, the Pirate," a one-act play.

We arrived in port May 31, after encountering fierce storms the week before. These are annual hurricanes called "exams." In these storms and through the disease "flunkia" we lost several of our crew, but the majority landed safely in New Juniorville.

CLASS of 1932

JOSEPH ENGLIN
President

FREDERICK SAWYER
Vice-President

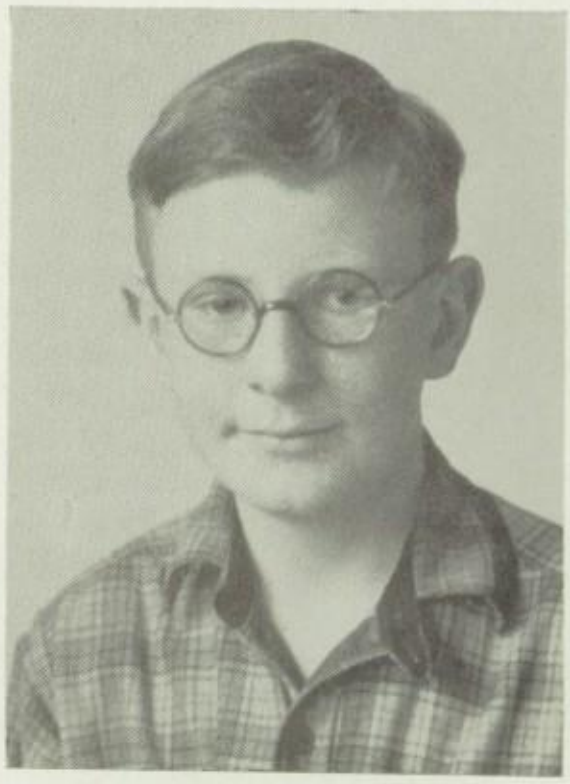
Rookies! Freshies! How insignificant they seem at first, insignificant to themselves and everybody else. But, along about November 1—Oh! What a change.

The class of '32 was no exception, decidedly not. At first these rookies strolled around the halls, a little self-conscious and slightly pugnacious. Then came the Freshman Prom, the interclass sports, debate, and numerous other things which challenged the attention of the rookies. The newcomers of course were at a slight disadvantage in these things, but they battled right along, not always successfully but ever courageously. In fact, the rookies have co-operated in all activities, and their efforts are worthy of commendation.

Finally, with the first of June, came vacation; The Freshmen were at last free to say they were no longer Freshmen.

A little more self-confident, the class of 1932 has resolved to stand above all others when they possess the name of Sophomores.

The officers who have deserved much credit and many thanks for guiding the class over a troubled course are: Joseph Englin, president; Frederick Sawyer, vice-president; Leighton Charlsen, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Lowen, class adviser.



LEIGHTON CHARLSEN
Secretary-Treasurer

By experience we find a shorter way by a long wandering. Learning teacheth more in one year than experience in twenty.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

One of the most unusual things about the Stillwater High School is the student government. It was introduced six years ago by Mr. J. O. Johnson, the present principal of our school. Since that time it has grown and developed much, until Stillwater is now known beyond the state. The National Education Association asked for a student representative from our school to speak to it about the functioning of student government. Only two schools, the other one in Texas, were asked to send a representative for this purpose.

The student council is the most prominent part of the student government plan. Each year it becomes more successful and active, through greater knowledge of its possibilities.

The members are elected by popular vote of the students, one from each advisory group. Each student must be above grade in all subjects in order to maintain his place on the student council. This body formulates rules for all student activities, and the pupils must obey these rules. The student council appoints many committees which care for various scholastic activities. Perhaps one of the best known major committees is the finance committee, which has charge of all money and makes out the budget. Another very important committee is the assembly committee, which has charge of the four weekly assemblies. The student council also elects the cheer leaders, the yell committees, hall and building committee, class committee, health committee, and interclass activity committees, to take charge of hockey, girls' and boys' basketball, volley ball, kittenball, and track.

The president of the Student Council is the Principal. The vice-president, who usually presides, is the student president of the school nominated by the student council and elected in a regular campaign by popular vote of the students. This year John Luhmann is the president. The council elected Grace Hagstrom secretary.

The prevailing spirit of our school, therefore, is not one of discipline but co-operation. This experience gives the students good training for future leadership and active, wide-awake citizenship.

The preparation of a high school annual for publication involves more work than would be apparent at a glance.

With the beginning of the school term, the staff prepared itself for a busy year. Suggestions for the theme were called for from the class, and the theme uppermost in the minds of the Seniors was that of logging. This theme was immediately adopted, because of the fact that it is quite appropriate and an infinite amount of local color could be obtained.

With the theme worked out, the artists, John and Mary Bernier, were set to work and the results of their efforts are decided assets to our annual. Editor-in-Chief John Luhmann and Assistant Editor Leroy Guldan set about the photography and literary work while the rest of the staff worked on details under the direction of these editors. James O'Shaughnessy and his able staff of assistants managed the financial difficulties and thanks to these business managers, our annual glided smotohly along.

The Kabekonian is published by the students alone, there being no faculty members on the staff. The staff, however, received invaluable aid and advice from Miss Hillesheim and Mr. Johnson. The work of the annual is known only to members of the staff. This secrecy, of course, is to create enthusiasm.

Our annual this year is bigger than its predecessors, and we think it will be fully as well received. The Kabekonian staff, after much effort, hopes that it has created a worthwhile book that all will appreciate.

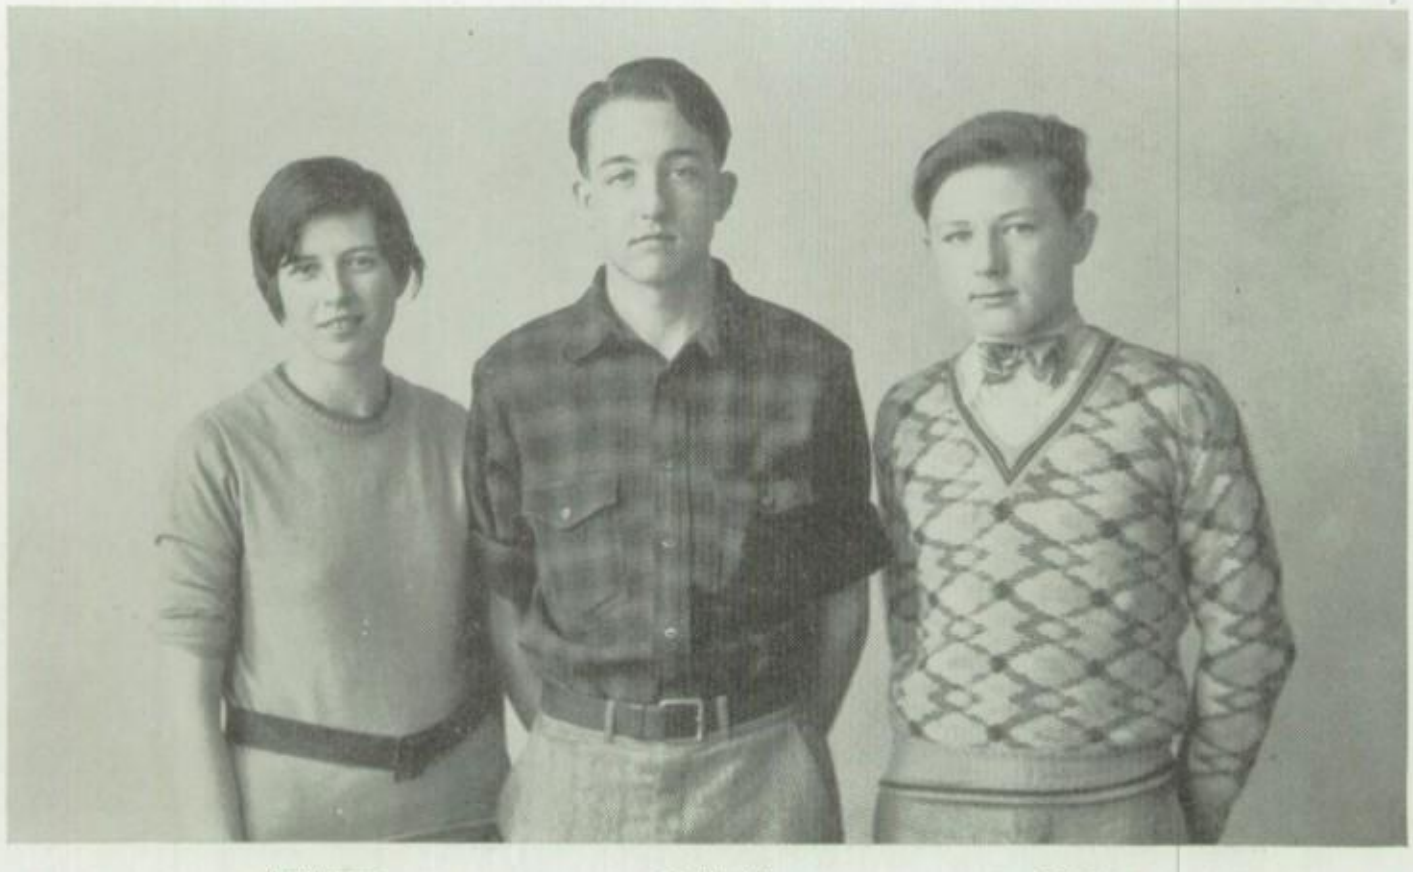
Scholarship, Honor, Sportsmanship—this is the three-fold idea which the Arrow tries to foster in Stillwater High School.

To trace the growth of this publication from its infancy (when it was known as Hi Skule Daze, and printed laboriously on our own multigraph) to its present more mature state is hardly necessary. An annual gift from the junior class together with school subscriptions provides enough money so that the paper does not carry advertising. A special issue, featuring the activity play, was financed by donations from all of the classes; its cuts and feature articles made it an interesting record of this popular production.

This year's staff has fully maintained the standards set in earlier years and has tried diligently to put out a paper that would not only record the school news, but that would also help to foster good sportsmanship and to encourage higher standards of scholarship and citizenship in our "scholastic republic."

Lacking any regular training in journalism, the staff is forced to get information and inspiration from various sources. Early in the year the editor was privileged to attend the High School Press Convention, held at Madison, Wisconsin, under the auspices of the university journalism department. More recently the editor, Jean McMillan, business manager, Louis Malloy, and one of the editors, Natalie Kolliner, spent a very profitable afternoon in the St. Paul Pioneer Press plant, where the school editor, Miss Flynn, gave them much practical help.

FINANCE COMMITTEE



Williams Kalinoff Rinker

Under the self-government policy of the Stillwater High School, all activities are financed, directly or indirectly, by the students.

To co-ordinate this important function more perfectly, the Student Council, the senate of the system, elects a committee of four members who outline all financial projects.

The Finance committee's first duty is to plan the budget for the ensuing year. Through the course of the school year the committee must pay all bills from the receipts of its projects. This committee also is in indirect charge of all other student committees in so much as it controls their finances.

The most important project carried out is the activity play. This play is the source of more than one-half of the total revenue taken in during a school year.

Due to the scholastic difficulties caused by the pressing importance of the work entailed, the committee is rarely the same throughout the year. Frederick Kalinoff relinquished his chairmanship to Lewis Mosier early in the second semester. Several of the other members have also been changed.

This year's Finance Committee has been working under a great handicap, facing an extraordinarily heavy budget with the minimum of opportunities for earning the necessary money to meet the budget.

Although this committee work entails a great deal of time and effort it is but one of the many opportunities afforded by the governing system of our school to become versed in the ways of life.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

Newman Kolliner Loehr Peterson

At the beginning of each school year, it becomes the problem of the Student Council to select a competent committee for assembly arrangements. This year to simplify the work of the committee, the council added a corresponding secretary.

It lies with the members of this committee to insure the school one hundred minutes entertainment each week. The work of the assembly committee is unceasing. Every school day except Wednesday (Advisory group day), it is their duty to secure talent which will be appreciated by the entire student body and faculty.

Because the money given to this committee is limited, many of the programs must be either local talent or gratis. This year, however, the committee has been fortunate to secure a number of fine programs at a nominal sum.

The assembly committee each morning selects the persons who are to announce the morning's program. The announcers this year have done very acceptable work.

Margaret Jean Loehr, as the chairman of the committee, should be given special mention because of her excellent leadership of the committee. With the aid of Ruth Newman, Helen Peterson, and Gretchen Kolliner, this year's programs have surpassed those of past years.

Appointments to this committee, although it means work, are compensated by the appreciation shown by the school at large. Disappointments in schedules have been met with a sunny smile, and the work has been freely acknowledged.

SENIOR COUNCIL

Back Row, left to right: Mosier, Johnson, Dick, O'Shaughnessy.

The Senior class officers, Lowell Johnson, James O'Shaughnessy, and Lewis Mosier, together with four members elected from the class at large, Leonel Dick, Violet Hoppke, Josephine Kearney, and John Luhmann, comprise the official governing body of the Senior class, ably guided by our adviser, Miss Mary Hillesheim.

The Senior Council settles all minor disputes, decides the policy of the class on school problems, and makes plans for the welfare of the class. All committees are approved by the Senior Council, and are directly responsible to it.

The projects especially fostered by the Council this year were the paper sale, financing the Senior play, and plans for Senior class activities in the Spring—the Senior picnic, Crazy Day, Class Night, and Commencement.

The success of the Senior class this year has been largely based on the unceasing efforts of the Council in its behalf, ably seconded and supported by the class as a whole.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Back Row, left to right: McMillan, Noack, Loehr, Johnson, Luhmann, Ledvina.

No finer recognition can come to a school than to be selected as one which is entitled to have a chapter of the National Honor Society. Only sixteen Minnesota high schools have the privilege of conferring the key, the badge of membership, upon their students.

Stillwater High School not only has the privilege, but it has so used it as to make the honor society a real force in our school life.

The qualifications for membership in this organization are very high, and, therefore students who are admitted deserve special mention. A faculty committee chooses by unanimous vote a number of Junior and Senior students who are outstanding in leadership and service, in scholarship and in character. In a very definite way the leadership of the school is largely in the hands of this select group.

When this year's members organized, John Luhmann was elected president, Kathryn Niederer, vice-president, and Lowell Johnson, secretary-treasurer. It must be understood, however, that this society is not primarily a business organization, but a purely honorary society. In recent years several social affairs have been introduced to foster good fellowship among the members.

The annual spring picnic is one event, long-planned for, and much enjoyed. The Rotary Club banquet is another event, which the members greatly appreciate. It is gratifying to see that this group of business men is interested in our honor society. Last year, a faculty dinner, arranged by the faculty committee on membership, was instituted, and will be continued as a fitting means of honoring these students who mean much to our school because they are equipped and ready to give much of themselves to it.

QUILL AND SCROLL

The Quill and Scroll is a very young organization in the high school, being established but a few years ago. There are no officers, it being more a social than a business group. It is also known as the National Honor Society for High School Journalists.

Members are selected by their scholarship, character, and journalistic ability. They must submit writeups which are sent to the national headquarters. If this example of journalism is satisfactory, the national secretary notifies the local chapter.

Each year an extensive prize contest is sponsored by the society. This fosters journalism and creates enthusiasm and as a result, the high school and college publications throughout the country are showing marked improvement.

The national society magazine Quill and Scroll is published every other month of the school year. All members receive this magazine upon payment of the initiation fee. As the official organ for the Quill and Scroll Society, this magazine contains all notices and articles in regard to the activities of the Quill and Scroll.

The leading members of the Quill and Scroll represent Stillwater at the Minnesota High School Press Association each year. This convention was held at the University of Minnesota on April 11, 12, 13. John Luhmann, James O'Shaughnessy and Jean McMillan attended as official members of the Quill and Scroll.

NATIONAL ATHLETIC HONOR SOCIETY

Arsenault L. Olsenius E. Olsenius Johnson Noack

The National Athletic Honor Society is one of the most exclusive organizations of the school. The club was introduced in 1927 by our principal, Mr. Johnson.

This organization is a national activity for athletes who have maintained an average equal to that of the upper one-third of their classes. Another requirement is that of the earned letter. Everyone applying for membership must have earned a letter in a major or two minor sports. These seem to be rather rigid requirements, but nevertheless Stillwater has succeeded in working up a good membership as they have but two and sometimes three classes to choose from.

Stillwater has developed some fine athletes who have gained state-wide recognition, and such an incentive will make our athletes strive to attain greater heights in both scholarship and athletics.

The club has no officers because membership is more an honorary degree than a business activity. Candidates are recommended by the athletic director and approved by the principal. Due, however, to the inability of athletes to maintain a satisfactory average while earning their letter, only a few members are chosen each year.

The National Athletic Honor Society is a distinct asset to any school in that it encourages a higher degree of scholastic achievement among high and prep school athletes.

DEBATE TEAMS

Front Row, left to right: Peterson, Coach Inglebret, Newman.

"Defeated but not outclassed" has been the debate situation of S. H. S. this year. All of the defeats, although discouraging to the student body, have not lessened the enthusiasm of the debaters, nor impaired the valuable experience that is theirs.

The question before the Minnesota High School Debating League this year is of international interest: "Resolved: That the United States cease to protect by armed force domestic capital invested in foreign lands without a formal declaration of war."

Due to a re-districting of schools, Stillwater High School now has much harder competition than ever before. North St. Paul, South St. Paul, and South High, Minneapolis, now compose the new district.

There were two Stillwater High School teams in the field this year. The affirmative team consisted of Lulu Grove, Mildred Peterson, and Ruth Newman, and the negative team was composed of Louis Malloy, Sheldon Johnson, Franklin Loehr.

Stillwater's affirmative team lost to North St. Paul, while the negative team was defeated by South High, Minneapolis, and South St. Paul.

The primary purpose of high school debate is not decision, or victory, nor are its results measured by the judges' votes. Debate is a valuable aid in the high school's work of preparing the student for success in later life. Debate teaches clear and rapid thinking, and much wholesome enjoyment is received from the ability to talk before an audience.

Three of the debaters go on to college; three stay in school longer, and will try to bring S. H. S. many debate victories. The school justly expects to be proud of both groups. The Seniors close all high school debate work with a final conviction that this will be very valuable, and with the confident hope that next year will bring better results in the field of debate.

THE 1928-1929 BAND

The band is still a very young organization, and because of that, runs into many difficulties which the older institutions of the school do not have to contend with. However, all things considered, the band has done very well this year, and a big step has been taken toward the ideal organization of the near future. With the interest of the students and their co-operation, the band will continue its rapid progress.

This year, through the co-operation of the Board of Education, the director, Mr. Hugo Frey of Minneapolis, spends two days a week with the band instead of just one as was the case last year. This added rehearsal adds much to the success of the organization as a school project.

The personnel consists of about thirty regular high school students besides a number of boys from the eighth grade of the Central school.

The following officers were elected or appointed shortly after school started: Manager, Waldron Douglas; Librarian, Ralph Monson.

During the year, the band played several concerts in school, and also helped "pep up" the basketball and football games with some lively marches. Four or five assembly programs were put on. At the benefit play they substituted for the orchestra at one of the performances. About the middle of the year, the Notre Dame Victory March, which is the tune of the Stillwater High School song, was secured and learned.

The year as a whole has been very successful and the members of the band feel that what they have accomplished and what they have indirectly or directly got out of the band well repays them for their patient practicing and hard work.

"We love music for the buried hopes, the garnered memories, the tender feelings it can summon at a touch." Music has so long been a part of our high school curriculum that we sometimes fail to realize how really important it is. The various types of work in the department of music not only give instruction to those who are interested in music, but they also have a great influence in making school activities more colorful, and in raising the standards of the school. The orchestra teaches students to play instruments skillfully, and to co-operate, in doing ensemble playing. Besides receiving beneficial instruction in the art of orchestral work, these pupils learn to appreciate fully the beauty of artistic musical productions, in this way cultivating a discriminating taste for the beautiful. The school itself receives great benefits from the orchestra in the shape of chapel programs, and entertainment at plays and contests; no one can appreciate more fully than the chapel committee how fine it is to have soloists from the orchestra who are willing to share their talents with the students.

Under the competent leadership of Miss Beatrice Sanftenberg, the orchestra this year has made marked progress. Instrumentally speaking, the group is well balanced, the only drawback coming from the fact that there is a shortage of brass instruments. This unfortunate condition has made it impossible for the orchestra to enter the state contest this year. In spite of this handicap, the orchestra has already mastered a number of difficult and worthwhile compositions.

"Music washes away from the soul the dust of everyday life." The truth of this statement has been proved in the lives of people since the time of the Greek musician, Orpheus. Every race or clan that has ever existed, finding something lacking in their lives, used music as a means of cleansing the soul.

Today, we find music about us on every hand. At home, in the church, and in school—in all the fundamental institutions existing—we hear all sorts of music. So, in our high school, we find that the Glee Clubs use music, not only as a balm for the soul, but also as something to be appreciated—something which needs more recognition than it receives. The girls show an active interest in choral work. They are able to make their listeners feel that they not only love to sing for their own enjoyment, but that they are glad and willing to furnish the product of their voices to the schools to aid in its development, as well as its reputation.

There are two glee clubs—each of which meets twice a week for hourly practice. Miss Sanftenberg, who very ably directs the girls, aims at artistic expression and appreciation rather than mere volume. Most of the songs with which they work are either two or three part selections. The girls have learned the beauty of true harmony in innumerable types of part singing.

Fortunately, the glee clubs are not selfish with their talent and ability. In order to celebrate fittingly the Yuletide season, and to implant the proper spirit of Christmas in the minds and hearts of the students and faculty, the glee clubs presented a group of Christmas carols in a program which took place shortly before the Christmas vacation. To give extra color and spice to the program, specialties which portrayed in costumes the songs and dances typical of Scotland, Germany, and Sweden, were artistically presented by soloist members of the glee clubs.

Surely, the school is grateful to these girls who are willing to give of their time to the extension of music as a school project.

From harmony, from heavenly harmony
This universal frame began;
When Nature underneath a heap
Of jarring atoms lay,
And could not heave her head,
The tuneful voice was heard from high,
Arise, ye more than dead.
Then cold and hot and moist and dry
In order to their stations leap,
And music's power obey.
From harmony, from heavenly harmony
This universal frame began;
From harmony to harmony
Through all the compass of the notes it ran,
The diapason closing full in man.

"ROLLO'S WILD OAT"

"Rollo's Wild Oat" was successfully presented by the class of 1929 at the High School Auditorium. The action of all parts was excellent and the directing was exceptionally fine.

The play is as follows:

Rollo Webster received a check from his grandfather to spend as he wished. He was determined to produce Shakespeare's "Hamlet" and play the leading part himself. He discusses the matter with Mr. Stein, a Jewish theatrical manager, who is accompanied by Goldie McDuff, a young actress without a job. Rollo decides that she will make a perfect Ophelia, and begs her to play the part. Rollo's sister, Lydia, is very much interested in the proceedings, and is finally allowed to play "Prologue." Soon the cast is selected and the play is under way. Horatio Webster, the stern grandfather, is told of the affair by Bella, the maid. He is thoroughly disgusted with Rollo and sends a message to him to come home immediately. This breaks up the performance, Hamlet. Rollo takes a taxi home accompanied by Goldie. When he arrives home, he finds that his grandfather is not on his death bed. Lydia also goes home accompanied by George Lucas, an actor, who is falling in love with Lydia. As they talk that evening Horatio Webster discovers that Goldie is the granddaughter of a famous actress whom he once loved. As they become interested in one another, the grandfather consents to Rollo's and Goldie's marriage; George and Lydia also have permission to get married, if George will go to England and not return until Horatio's death. While this is going on at Rollo's home, performance of Hamlet is carried on by Hewston, the butler. He succeeded in drawing gales of laughter and his desire to become an actor is immediately quenched.

Harold Krog took the part of Rollo Webster. Ophelia was played by Elinor Walker. Josephine Kearney ably carried her part as Lydia Webster. Lois Malloy, who played the part of Mr. Stein, deserved much credit. James O'Shaughnessy was suited to his part as Horatio Webster. Frederick Kalinoff as Hewston brought waves of mirth to the audience. Gretchen Kolliner showed her ability as Mrs. Park Gales, the stern actress. Marjorie Iserman as the maiden Aunt Lane and Myrtle Burch as Bella, the maid, carried their parts successfully. George Lucas, played by Lewis Mosier and two other actors, Thaddeus Beach and William Krog, helped make the play a success.

With the assistance of Miss Armstrong, the play was a great success.

BENEFIT PLAY

In the fall of 1928 the Student Council resolved to attempt to raise a sum of $2,000 which was to be turned over to the board of education for improvement of the old athletic field. In order to do this, the play, "The Dutch Detective," was presented in the High School Auditorium.

The play was a three-act farce comedy with the scene set in a little country town. The lead part, Otto, the Dutch Detective, was played by Wilson Staples. He was a correspondence school detective, who had "granulated mit high dishonor." His ambitions were to capture an eloped couple and two escaped lunatics, so that he could get enough reward to set up a detective office of his own.

His sweetheart, Katrina Kraut, played by Kathryn Niederer, had one very distinct German habit—she liked "slimburger cheese and onions." Otto and Katrina finally were married and left on the train for Niagara Falls to spend their hoenymoon.

The police force of Splinterville, Mr. Jabo Grab, T. C. (thief catcher), was played by Sheldon Johnson. He started out looking for his Ariminta, but finally decided that he liked Ambrosia McCarty better. She was the little flapper who managed the lunch counter and the dining room at the depot. The part was played by Margaret Benham.

Ariminty Sourdrops, a typical stage old maid, played by Marion McKusick, came to Splinterville with the intentions of marrying Jabo Grab. While looking for her Jabo, she ran into an old friend, Major Hannibal Howler (Robert Peaslee) who was searching for his daughter Gladys (Phyllis Nelson) and the man she eloped with, Augustus Coo, played by Ralph Monson.

Ariminty tried to cool the Major down, but he was determined to "make him coo," as he said. They finally came to an understanding in the last scene, and the Major agreed to leave Augustus and Gladys alone if they wouldn't interfere with his honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls.

Last, but not least, were the two lunatics, Plunk Jarlect, the human fire engine, and also "Big Chief Woozy Firewater" and Miss Hortensey Smatters, Esquire, the daughter of Alice in Wonderland. Their insane cleverness and foolishness, together with th several cases of mistaken identity made the play a laughing success. Plunk Jarlick was playd by Leonel Dick and Miss Hortensey Smatters by Arlene Ledvina.

The play was directed by Miss Gottry, and the specialties between acts were under the direction of Miss McShane and Miss Dahl. Miss Sanftenberg led the orchestra.

Though the goal of $2,000 was not realized the play was considered a big success.

We like to pause now and then, to dream and drowse over the past. In the minds of many will linger the thoughts of our Junior play, "Seventeen."

This popular story by Booth Tarkington was successfully presented by the class of 1929 and received much favorable comment from those who attended.

The story revolves about a seventeen year old boy whose whims and fancies keep his family in despair. Willie Baxter, played by Harold Krog, falls in love with Lola Pratt and he determines to get a dress suit so he can make the first and best impression on "the baby-talk lady." Ruth Newman as Lola, uses all her wiles to keep the competition keen for her hand. The characters were all so well chosen that the play was amazingly real. Kathryn Niederer in the role of Willie's sister was faultless, being a typical young sister. Mr. Parcher, played by John Luhmann, finally driven to desperate measures by baby talk, arranges to have Lola's visit cut short.

Willie is coolly ignored by Lola at her farewell party, and Willie sees that puppy love is the beginning of a dog's life so he agrees to go to college.

Much credit must be given to every person in the cast because of the hard work and thought put into it. The play was capably coached by Miss Hillesheim, who knew how to get the most done by her efficient handling of every detail.

ACTIVITY PLAY

Our ninth annual Shakespeare's Dream, entitled "Cyclone Sally," which was presented February 8th and 9th, proved to be the best production ever staged in the Stillwater High School. The talent displayed was unusual for students. Few would have known the characters were mere amateurs by the way it was presented, due, no doubt, to the supervision and direction of Miss Kielty and Miss Pierce.

"Cyclone Sally" had the largest attendance any high school play has ever had. It was an uproarious comedy in three acts and contained many humorous remarks. The very large crowd proved that it was keenly appreciated by the public.

The leading characters were portrayed by John Luhmann and Ruth Newman, both members of the Senior class. John Luhmann took the part of hot tempered Jack Webster, and Ruth Newman made a perfect Cyclone Sally. English Reggie, played by Harold Krog, was without question, an outstanding figure in the play. Although he had a difficult time seeing through American jokes, he gave us a good idea of humor as displayed by an Englishman. Coy Ruth, a peach Reggie would like to pick, was played by Katherine Stevens. Jim Jerkins, who courted for twenty years and was not yet discouraged, was played by Dean Charlsen; and cute little Effie Varden and Vivian Vernon, the belles of the countryside, were played by Margaret Benham and Gretchen Kolliner, respectively.

The play was full of music, including a half dozen choruses, solos, etc.

The outstanding choruses were the Snappy chorus, Funny Paper chorus, Bluebird chorus, Felix the Cat, and Me and the Man in the Moon. There were over eighty characters in the production, the largest group ever used in a high school play.

It was reproduced at the Veterans' Hospital at Fort Snelling and the State Prison with equal success and appreciation.

ORGANIZATIONS

The past and thence I will assay to glean
A warning for the future, so that man
May profit by his errors, and derive
Experience from his folly;
For when the power of imparting joy
Is equal to the will, the human soul requires.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

The majority of the students taking the compulsory sciences and physics are members of the Science Club. It has for its purpose the broadening of our scientific knowledge in a pleasant and amusing manner. The organization had its origin in 1927, but never before has such great interest been shown as this year. It has now a membership of over 200, and we hope it will continue to prosper.

Several very interesting meetings were greatly enjoyed. The first regular program consisted of experiments with liquid oxygen through th able efforts of Mr. J. O. Johnson. The members looked on with wonder as the different experiments were performed.

An interesting inter-class debate was held on the question: Resolved: That the contributions made by scientists to the well-being, progress, and happiness of humanity are greater than those made by leaders in other fields, such as war, industry, literature, and art. This created much excitement among the classes due to the fact that a very well chosen trophy was offered to the winning class, which proved to be the Senior class.

A number of other meetings were of equal interest. Under the leadership of Mr. Milton Kuhlman, Miss Olive Lowen, and Mr. George Jansen, the club has become one of the leading organizations of the school.

Its officers for 1928-29 are: Leroy Guldan, president; David Lehmicke, vice president; and Sheldon Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

SENIOR HI-Y

The Hi-Y is an activity in which we receive good sound moral training. The club, through its teachings, strives to instill in every boy's heart the desire to live Christian lives of character and service to mankind.

This organization has been a leading influence in the Stillwater High School since its introduction in 1924 when Mr. Johnson obtained a charter. Organized in 1924, its first great service was the staging of the Older Boys' conference in 1927. With a registration of six hundred older boys, this was a gigantic undertaking. Nevertheless, the conference was a success from every angle.

Officers for 1928-29 were elected before school ended the previous semester. Lwis Mosier was selected as president, Lowell Johnson, vice-president; Burton Jones, secretary, and Fred Kalinoff, treasurer. Members were added several times during the year.

The Hi-Y is a very exclusive organization. Candidates for membership are voted upon by the entire club. Choice must be unanimous, one black ball being sufficient to deny membership to prospective individuals.

Capably led by Lewis Mosier and Mr. Brandes, adviser, the meetings are a source of recreation and information.

Each meeting date, the club has lunch in the school cafeteria followed by a short talk by leading members of the community.

JUNIOR HI-Y

The Junior Hi-Y club of the Stillwater High School was organized in 1927-28 and was composed of Freshmen, Sophomores, and some Juniors. The purpose of the club is the same as that of the senior group: to promote clean speech, clean living, and clean thinking thrughout the school. Its two sponsors, Mr. Kuhlman and Mr. Johnson, are members of the faculty and have taken a great interest in the club and the welfare of its members. One of the two takes charge of the group discussion at every meeting.

The Junior Hi-Y sent six delegates to the convention at Albert Lea held on November 19, 20, and 21. They were Robert Davis, Ronald Johnson, David Lehmicke, Albert Lehmicke, Sheldon Johnson, and Clark Grove. The theme of the conference was "We Would See Jesus." The theme was carried out by speakers who conveyed their messages to the delegates by wonderful, informal talks; just as important was the group discussion in whic heach boy, (who was assigned a group in which there was not more than one of his own delegation) might tell his opinions about certain problems which might have arisen in his life, as they had in the lives of others. Every boy received so many benefits from the conference that the Junior Hi-Y, in the years to come, plans to send as many delegates as possible to the various Hi-Y conferences in the state.

The club is guided by Robert Davis, president; David Lehmicke, vice-president; and Sheldon Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

SIGMA GAMMA CHI

The last and best organization to be formed in Stillwater High School during the year 1929 was the Senior Girls' club, or in a formal way "Sigma Gamma Chi."

The membership of this organization is limited to Senior girls. This is a strictly informal organization—the purpose being to discuss rules of etiquette and other social problems of the day, and to furnish the girls a way to know each other better and to become friends.

For the Christmas meeting Mrs. Kolliner gave a short talk on "Girls of Other Lands," illustrating by pictures from India, and other countries, showing the dress, mode of living, housing conditions, and recreation. It was all new and entertaining to the girls and may be classed as the best meeting of the year.

This group prides itself on having very little of the usual machinery; instead it is governed by a committee appointed by a preceding committee which conducts the meetings and arranges light refreshments and a short program. Several of the meetings took on a decidedly Rotarian quality; the girls had a noon lunch in the Domestic Science building which was followed by a program and an informal discussion of problems interesting to girls. A small fee was charged for the lunch. Veronica Lustig was unanimously chosen to take charge of the finances of this club.

When the weather becomes suitable for outside activities, hikes will be one of the chief sources of recreation for the girls. These hikes will take the place of our regular meeting date which is once every month.

Miss Armstrong is the enthusiastic leader and superviser of this organization. She does a great deal to add to the discussion at the meetings.

The Senior class may well be proud of such an organization as this, for it is an excellent way of promoting a broader friendship and harmony among the Senior girls.

TALENT CLUB

The Talent Club was originated in Stillwater High School in 1925 at the suggestion of Student Council under Miss Nora Boraas. The next year the club grew a little more and this year it has increased almost three times its original size. During the first part of this year the Talent Club met with Miss Ilah Dahl as faculty adviser. At this meeting the following officers were elected: President, Ruth Newman, vice-president, Nellie Murphy, and secretary-treasurer, James Vesall, and it was decided to petition Student Council for permission to meet in the Music Room every second and fourth Wednesday in the month.

The plan of the meeting is to have a short business meeting, followed by a program furnished by the members of the club. The reasons for having these programs are that it develops talent, overcomes that ogre, stage fright, and furnishes entertainment for the rest of the members.

The Talent Club has proved to be a blessing to the Assembly Committee as the club has filled in when people for the regular schedule disappointed the committee at the last minute. The Talent Club has furnished programs for the various organizations in town, and supplied talent for the many activities in school.

There are no requirements for joining this organization except a willingness to partake in activities and the ability to play some musical instrument.

The organization is comparatively young as yet but the work accomplished more than makes up for its apparent youngness. The purpose of the club is to encourage and develop talent in the school at large. With such a large perspective, and with spring activities coming, many pupils have joined the club.

ALPHA GAMMA TAU

Front Row: Lammers, Murphy, Leffek, Soens, Malloy.

Alpha Gamma Tau, more commonly known as the "Math Club," is a large and active organization under the able leadership of Miss Veronica McShane.

This club has been an organization of the school for the past three years, and was begun under the direction of Miss Selma Erickson. The purpose of the club is to further mathematical knowledge and to develop and stimulate interest in mathematics. Anyone who has taken a year of mathematics is eligible to membership. The club meets the first school Tuesday of every month. During the course of the year there were many interesting and amusing programs. Some of the programs consisted of mathematical problems, while the others were purely social.

This year the club is very proud of their new and handsome pins. The pin is a red and black "M" with the Greek letters "AGT" on it.

The name Alpha Gamma Tau, which is confusing to many, may be explained as follows:
Alpha is the Greek letter A, signifying algebra.
Gamma is the Greek letter G, signifying geometry.
Tau is the Greek letter T, signifying trigonometry.

LAMBDA IOTA TAU

Front Row: Lamb, Hudak, Wilkinson, Peterson, McDonald, Miss Rose, Murphy, Brosious, Stevens, Shirley, Collins.
Back Row: Easton, Davis, Kerr, Lehmicke, Lammers, Bliss, Grove, Stenwick, Vesall, Johnson.

The Lambda Iota Tau elected the following officers to guide their ship of state through the school year: President, Mary Brosious; vice-president, Clark Grove; secretary and treasurer, Mildred Peterson.

This club, commonly known and spoken of by the students as the Shakespeare Club, was formed last year by the Freshmen of 1928. The Freshmen, feeling that they would like to know more about Shakespeare and his writings, felt inclined to establish a club in which all those interested could participate in this research. As a result, this group presented "The Merchant of Venice" that year in assembly.

This year, the Freshmen being Sophomores, and older in mind, believed that the first undertaking should be the drawing up of a constitution. Therefore, they elected a committee for this purpose. The members as a whole decided that they should study not only Shakespeare but all literature. Therefore, a Greek name, Lambda Iota Tau, meaning literature, was found for the club.

The chief aims and purposes of the club are to bring out talent, and to create a greater interest in the literary world.

The club holds its meetings every second Thursday in each month. It has a room, that formerly belonged to the normal class, in which it meets.

The constitution provides for bringing in new members, vetoing and passing laws, eliminating and adding members, electing officers, and paying dues.

This year, the club has voted upon and accepted about fifteen new members. These members have taken lively interest in the organization, and are proving an asset to the club.

A program committee of three provides some sort of entertainment for each meeting. This committee consists of Sheldon Johnson, and James Vesall, with the vice-president acting as chairman.

The Lambda Iota Tau is interested in all outside things pertaining to literature. They have seen "The Merchant of Venice" in St. Paul, and have an eye open for all other noted plays.

BLUE TRIANGLE

Girl Reserves are two words that have an appealing sound. The Blue Triangle, which name this club is sometimes called, is the particular symbol of the organization. The Girl Reserve code embodies those ideals of service, love, and right living that help a girl to make life a lovely and worth-while one.

A Girl Reserve means a girl who takes the way of virtue, a girl who develops her spirit, who tries always to learn something new, useful, helpful for her future life. "To face life squarely" in the daily tests which come at home, in school, at work, at play; to be a friend to all and strive to show Jesus' love in every little deed; to give the best of self in service to God and in fellowship with girls everywhere—these are golden threads woven through the everyday fabric out of which a Girl Reserve fashions her thoughts and actions.

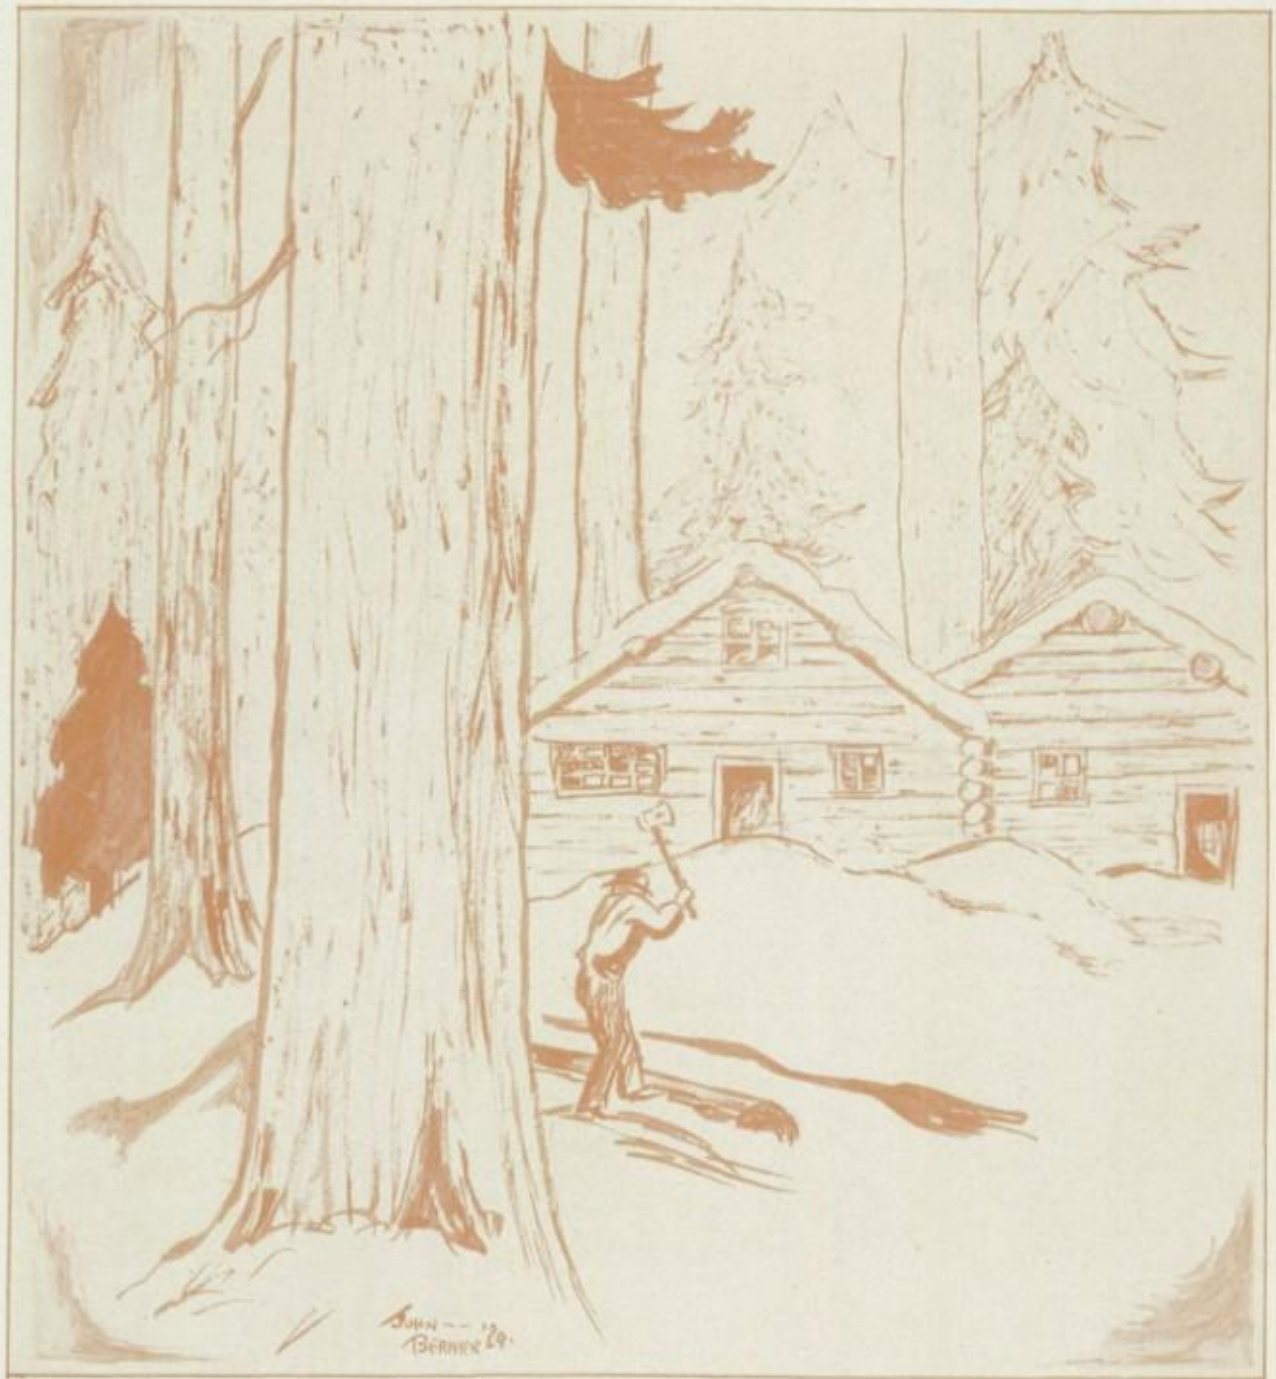
The Girl Reserve code is:

I will try to be:

Gracious in manner	Seeing the beautiful
Impartial in judgment	Eager for knowledge
Ready for service.	Reverent to God
Loyal to friends	Victorious over self
Reaching toward the best	Ever dependable
Earnest in purpose	Sincere at all times

The Girl Reserve movement at Stillwater High School is a well-organized group of young folks eager to do their part. The girls who hold the official positions are all active and alert and capable of leading the other girls. Grace Hagstrom is president, Kathryn Niederer, vice president, and Josephine Kearney is secretary-treasurer. Miss Elstad and Miss Pierce are faculty advisers.

Besides the regular business meetings, hikes, social gatherings, parties, banquets, and camp life fill the Girl Reserve year with much enjoyment and wholesome recreation.



ATHLETICS.

Not all who seem to fail have failed indeed,
Not all who fail have therefore worked in vain
There's no failure for the good and brave.

FOOTBALL

Stillwater always has had a good football team and each year gains recognition on the gridiron.

Coach Dunder issues his first call for grid candidates on the opening day of school. About sixty prospective gridders reported. Prospects for a successful team were unusually bright. Capt. Bell, Noack, Douglas, Jones, and Marlowe were the returning veterans of the highly successful team of '27-'28.

The first scheduled game was with the alumni, whose all-star aggregation is the first opponent of the Red and Black each year. Each time this game has been very close, with neither team on a very long end of the score. This year was to be no exception.

The alumni team was composed of members of the previous four years' teams and without a doubt, was the best team ever to oppose the varsity. They were able to charge through and ripped holes in the lighter Red and Black forward wall through which their fast backs made good yardage. Much credit must be given to the line for its splendid work in this victory.

The varsity's chances for victory had been darkened by the fact that Capt. Bell, Noack, Marlowe, and Naegele had been injured in scrimmage and stood on the sidelines as spectators. Although their absence was felt, their places were ably filled by Arsenault and Gilkerson, who made many good gains.

The two teams played consistent ball, neither team scoring during the first half. In the third quarter, however, the varsity was forced to kick into a fierce northeast wind near their own goal. After two futile attempts to score, the alumni quarterback, Elliot, slid off tackle for a touchdown. Anderson made the point after touchdown by a good dropkick.

The Red and Black tried desperately to tie the score in the last quarter but failed to make any decisive gains through or around the alumni line. The game ended with the alumni on the longer end of a 7-0 score.

RED AND BLACK DEFEATED BY RED WING, 13-0

This was Stillwater's first game on foreign soil; they were inexperienced and were tired by the long trip to their opponent's field. The Red and Black were sluggish and slow and seemed to possess very little spark or pep.

After an exchange of punts in the early minutes of the second quarter, Red Wing on a pass and a long end run managed to get the ball on our five yard line where Stillwater held them for three downs. On the fourth down, the Blackbird fullback went over for the first touchdown of the game. The half ended 7-0 in favor of Red Wing.

With only a few minutes left to play, Stillwater received the ball on downs. Noack called for a fake punt which worked beautifully, netting about forty yards and brought the ball to the Red Wing 10 yard line just as the whistle blew. Score: Red Wing 13, Stillwater 0.

HOMECOMING-HASTINGS

The homecoming game brought Hastings to Stillwater. The Red and Black waged a fierce onslaught and redeemed by their victory the defeat at the hands of Red Wing.

Starting from the first kickoff Stillwater played an entirely different brand of ball than that seen on the field since the opening of the season. Scoring five touchdowns and two extra points, they ran up a score of 32-0 before the final shot put an end to the spectacle.

Lange contributed one fine exhibition of ball when he broke through on a pass and took the ball out of the passer's hand, only to fumble and fall on it, when he had plenty of opportunity to run for a touchdown.

Bell showed his bucking power time and again when yards were needed. Without Noack's punting the team would have been at a loss for this means of gaining ground. Arsenault's end-running showed him up as a very fast, capable man who should be watched.

NORTH ST. PAUL

Stillwater then went to North St. Paul on October 19, and ran up practically the same score as the week before—31-0, completely swamping the North St. Paul grid team.

Bell was in his glory this day and made one touchdown besides gaining a major part of the yardage.

On the second kickoff Stillwater received. On the first play Bell heaved a long shoestring pass to Douglas who bobbled it with a sure score in sight.

The game ended 31-0 after Stillwater had scored in a seemingly frenzy of action.

WHITE BEAR

The next week on Friday, October 27, the annual White Bear classic was held at White Bear.

The Bears for the second time in consecutive years defeated the Ponies. This game attracted one of the largest crowds ever to witness the traditional clash.

White Bear's attack completely baffled the Red and Black. White Bear's first score came after Arsenault, on a wide end run which would have netted over thirty yards, fumbled.

Shea started the move for the second score with a forty yard end run. A White Bear punt went over the goal and became Stillwater's ball on the 20 yard line. A pass was intercepted by Shea and converted into a touchdown. Dazed by the fast occurrences the Stillwater line was unable to hold tight and Holman ran the ball over for the extra point.

Noack's punts were better than those of the White Bear punter. A stiff wind made them very difficult to get off. White Bear made more yardage but first downs were evened up on both teams.

Stillwater's line did not work evenly and White Bear made gain after gain through center and tackle with ease.

This victory gave White Bear a clean slate for two years and the score 13-0 kept White Bear's goal line uncrossed for the season.

EXCELSIOR

Excelsior came to Stillwater for our final home game. This was heralded as one of the best teams in the state and was given the odds on the game.

Excelsior's only score came in the opening minutes of play. Stillwater receive Bell fumbled on the first play and Excelsior recovered. They were penalized 15 yards and punted. Stillwater failed to gain, and also kicked, only to have the punt blocked by an Excelsior lineman who ran thirty yards for a score.

In the second quarter after a series of passes, Bell crossed the marker for a touchdown. Noack passed to Arsenault for the extra point.

Early in the third quarter, Stillwater kicked to Excelsior's 20 yard line. Excelsior fumbled, and the ball was recovered by the Red and Black. A run by Arsenault and several plunges by Bell put the pigskin over for the final score, 14-6.

ST. CLOUD-STILLWATER

The Ponies finished up the season with an overwhelming defeat at St. Cloud. St. Cloud's formidable grid squad, defeated only twice in four years, triumphed over the Red and Black 27-0 at St. Cloud's Homecoming.

St. Cloud had a noticeable advantage over the Ponies in that they were forced to travel 100 miles in the morning. Their squad outweighed the Stillwater team and this weight handicap made itself known later in the game.

Tech swept the Ponies off their feet and scored after five minutes of play. This sudden burst of power helped to awaken the Red and Black. As a result St. Cloud was held to seven points until the third quarter.

St. Cloud's second touchdown came on line plunges and runs.

The last quarter saw Stillwater gambling desperately for a score. Passing when down on their own 20 yard line proved their undoing. Two passes were intercepted and run over for scores.

Players lost through graduation are Capt. Bell, Noack, Naegele, Evald Olsenius, Conley and Huss. These men well deserve their letters for they have been a chief factor in our victories and have done their utmost to avoid defeat. True sportsmen they have been, always cherishing the principles of Scholarship, Honor and Sportsmanship—the code of our school.

BASKETBALL

The Red and Black basketball team of 1928-1929 will not be soon forgotten by those who saw them in action.

Basketball candidates were called out soon after the grid season was over. Over forty prospects turned out. The returning letter men about whom the quint was to be formed, were Captain Noack, Naegele and Strebel. After a short time the squad was cut to fifteen. Under the peerless coaching of Coach Dunder the team was recognized and touted as one of the best in the district.

The first game was with the Alumni. The old grads had one of the best aggregations ever to meet the varsity. Nevertheless, the strong Red and Black had collected a total of 42 points to the Alumni's 9 at the end of the game.

In our first inter-scholastic tilt, Stillwater easily downed the Washington High of St. Paul in a fast game 42-10.

Stillwater reopened relations with the Hudson High School on the home floor. Although forced to the limit to win, Stillwater came from behind very fast and through dint of perfect passing in the final stanza amassed 26 points to Hudson's 17.

Stillwater's first away from home game took place at Red Wing. The Red Wing squad was hailed as the best in years and easily took a victory from the Red and Black 23-14.

Emerging from a week's Christmas vacation, Stillwater again took on the Washington High quint to prepare for the last half of the season, winning 44-6.

Stillwater decisively whipped Forest Lake who had badly beaten the Bears a week before. The Red and Black worked its way through at will and scored again and again. Forest Lake was held down by the powerful defense afforded by the new Dunder system of defense and offense and made but one field goal. The final score was 28-4.

White Bear met a strong Stillwater team in the first battle for the "oil can." Foster and Noack contributed greatly to this victory by amassing a greater portion of the points. The tilt ended with Stillwater far in the lead 32-11.

North St. Paul then played Stillwater at Tozer gym in one of the best home games of the season and lost to the Ponies by a 17-12 score.

In the return game with Red Wing, Stillwater lost its only home game 15-14. The Red and Black led the whole game until the last three minutes, when in a final desperate rally Red Wing proceeded to tie and then lead Stillwater.

Stillwater for the second time defeated White Bear at White Bear 30-13. After having taken the first game by a tremendous score, Stillwater was given the odds in the second. The game started off with a bang and at the end of the first quarter, there was no doubt as to the outcome.

CAPT. NOACK

The Red and Black again defeated North St. Paul 17-6. North St. Paul next to Red Wing, had been our toughest foe this season, holding the Red and Black to low scores in both encounters.

Stillwater entered the tournament as a favorite to cop the tourney. Its first game was with Hastings who were easily beaten 34-9 in an unexciting tilt.

By its victory over Hastings, the Red and Black was matched with Columbia Heights, a bye.

Playing one of its worst games, and in a listless and pepless manner, it trailed throughout the entire encounter and lost 19-13.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Front Row, left to right: Hoppke, Slocum, Salmore, Hagstrom, Lammers.

The girls' basketball team finished the season this year with an excellent showing. They suffered but one defeat, which was one of the most glorious of the team's history

The first game was played with the alumnae. The graduated girls had plenty of pep to start the game off but during the second and succeeding periods this died down. The team took advantage of the let-up and scored incessantly. The alumnae had three points at the end of the game while the Red and Black girls had a grand total of 27 points. This game marked the first of a successful schedule.

On Saturday evening of January 26th, the team was scheduled to play Forest Lake, but through some controversy the Forest Lake girls were also scheduled elsewhere. The game was cancelled with them, but another game was arranged with Unity House College of Minneapolis. Both teams found opposition at every position of the floor. Whenever the locals scored, the visitors scored also. The final score read: Stillwater 21 and Unity 11.

The First National Bank girls' basketball team of Minneapolis was third on the team's schedule. The Minneapolis team claimed the undisputed championship of the Northwest. The girls from Minneapolis had splendid teamwork and their fast playing made it difficult for the high school team to keep pace. The visitors' accurate shooting kept the score constantly climbing. The girls of Stillwater gave fine opposition and never gave up the fight once during the full game. Although they lost this game, they lost as thought it was a victory, gloriously. The team was downed by a score of 29 to 12. It was the most exciting game that has ever been staged on the home floor.

Coach Pierce

Capt. SALMORE

White Bear, the rival team, found a tough lot when they played the Stillwater girls in the fourth game of the season. This game held the interest of the entire school because it has always been our policy to defeat White Bear. This game was played on our own floor. The home team met with little opposition. The White Bear team was easily beaten by the score of 31 for Stillwater and 9 for White Bear.

Forest Lake proved to be the fourth victim of the girls' team. This was a hard game and was played away from home. Although the Forest Lake team opened the game with the first point in the beginning of the first period, the Stillwater quint won the game in the end by the score of 17 to 12.

The final game of the season was played with our rivals, White Bear. Defeat stared the Red and Black in the face when Phil Slocum came late. When Stillwater began getting the tip-off they came from behind and held the opponents in their tracks. The White Bear team again bowed in defeat to our girls when the game ended and the score was in the favor of the Stillwater girls 28 to 7.

The team was exceptionally good this year. The games cannot be credit to one player alone because without the team work of all the players, there would have been no victories. Most of the team are Seniors and will be graduating. Those graduating are as follows: Margaret Ann Lammers, Phyllis Slocum, Grace Hagstrom, Ruth Newman, Violet Hoppke, Dorothy Salmore. Three substitutes are also leaving; they are Margaret Loehr, Elinor Walker, and Gertrude Janilla.

HIGH SCHOOL CALENDAR

September

4—All went back to the trenches.

10—Just another blue Monday.

12—The Freshmen all started in right by banking their pennies.

14—Thrill of a lifetime! We were excused at three o'clock.

17—"It gives me great pleasure," Mr. Smith gave his annual welcome speech.

18—Carl piped the tunes and Lil tickled the keys for our first bit of music. Arlene contributed a classical selection.

19—Usual Wednesday routine. The Big Sister party was given in the gym and the Senior girls helped the Freshman girls get acquainted.

21—Sale of season football tickets. The beaming faces of the Freshmen lighted the auditorium as they walked out first. Don't get excited—they just bought a few more tickets.

24—Jean's first edition of the Stillwater Arrow.

28—Mr. Mique Heed, editor of the Bayport Herald entertained us this morning by giving a personification of a Swedish doctor. Plenty of laughs!

October

1—Thaddeus Beach, Dave Wolf, and Carl Meyer gave us a few syncopated selections.

5—Daylight dance season ticket sale was a big success. Everybody up on their toes!

6—Played Red Wing today and got—beat.

9—Mr. Kearney talked to us on fire prevention and we also had a movie on the prevention of fire.

12—Thrills! Chapel for a whole hour. Corinne Jordan livened up the program for us.

12—Our first victory of the year at the expense of Hastings, (32-0.)

16—There are some happy and some sad faces today. Why? Report Card Day.

19—John Luhmann elected S. H. S. president. The thrill that comes once in a lifetime, eh, Jack?

19—North St. Paul game. We won 31-0.

27—We played White Bear and were defeated 13-0.

November

1—The band gave their first program of the year. There is more in store for us.

2-3—The benefit play, "The Dutch Detective," was given and proved to be a success.

3—Beat Excelsior 14-6.

9—The St. Cloud game. We were beat 27-0. "Down but not out."

12—Mr. Bundlie spoke to us on the significance of Armistice Day.

13—"Oh, death, where is thy sting?" No assembly all week.

16—Junior party. And how!

19—That welcome artist, Gayle Wood, tickled the ivories for nearly an hour.

23—The best party—the Senior party.

27—And again they beat down upon us—report cards!

December

7—Audrey Anderson and Sylvia Fundberg were the artists on this morning's assembly program. Both are musically inclined—as children they played on the lineoleum.

7-8—"Rollo's Wild Oat" presented by Senior class. Seniors are wild about financial end of it.

14—Beat Hudson 26-17. The second team won also.

14—Through the combined efforts of Miss Gebhard's and Miss Elstad's advisory groups we were entertained by Happy Harry Geise from KSTP.

21—Nothing like suspense—at last two weeks' vacation.

21—Alumni games. They aren't what they used to be. We won both games.

HIGH SCHOOL CALENDAR

January

7—Everybody's busy—going to start the New Year in right.

11—And never was there such a party as the all-class party. We lost to Red Wing 14-23.

15—Miss Kielty, our librarian, gave one of the best programs of the year.

18—Lois Egaard was crowned school queen by John Luhmann. Oh, Johnnie, how could you?

19—The boys beat Forest Lake 28-4. The girls defeated the Unity Team of St. Paul by a score of 21-11.

25—Whoopee! White Bear games—we won both by large scores.

February

1—We beat North St. Paul again.

7—Mr. Brandes' advisory group program—undoubtedly every student enjoyed it.

8—Lost to Red Wing 14-15—oh, the cruelty of the blow.

8-9—Shakespeare's Dream, "Cyclone Sally." The greatest hit in years.

12—Assembly program in commemoration of Lincoln. Martin Crowe won the Lincoln medal.

12—The girls played Forest Lake and won. The boys gained another victory by defeating North St. Paul. Shakespeare's Dream cast and chorus went to Fort Snelling and a lovely time was had by all.

18—For assembly we had two reels of movies. Two of them were "Our Gang" comedies. The Freshmen cried and clapped their hands with glee.

21—White Bear game at White Bear. Boys won 33-13. The girls won 25-7. Everybody making whopee!

22—The long-looked-for day of rest.

22—Shakespeare Dream cast and chorus put on their production at the prison. We had a hard time trying to get our "Kab" editor safely home.

28-March 1—The tournament at South St. Paul. Stillwater defeated Hastings Thursday evening but was defeated by Columbia Heights on Friday.

March

11—The "Kab" goes to press. Many of the staff have acquired white hairs before their time.

12—The Sophomore-Junior debate. The Sophies won.

14—Stillwater was defeated by the Central High debate team.

18—Girls' Athletic banquet.

19—The final debate. We wonder who will win?

20—The unknown quantity—the final games of the interclass basketball tournament.

25—One lovely week of vacation—Easter vacation.

April

1—So many things happened on this day that it would be impossible to enumerate them all. For the first time in the history of the Stillwater high school every Senior is going to gradaute—April Fool!

12—The four one-act plays were given instead of a Junior play.

May

24—The Senior picnic—what a happy and pleasant way to finish the last day of school.

28—The last project of the Senior class—Class Night.

Norma—Do motor cars make us lazy?
Lyle—Not if you're a pedestrian.

CLASS WILL

Dorothy Alwin leaves her quiet ways to Mary Helen Johnson.
Eleanor Anderson leaves for Houlton and all points east.
Frances Anderson leaves her system of heart breaking to Norma Van Horn.
Thelma Anderson leaves for "where the shy (and not so shy) little violets grow."
Mark Bahneman leaves his title "King for a Night" to Harold Foster.
Beatrice Bannister leaves her last name for diversion to Marcia Mulvey.
Thaddeus Beach leaves his magnetic power over women to Gordon Mikkleson.
Glenn Bell and Lucille Berglund leave for the license bureau.
Edwin Berglund bequeaths his length to Thomas Gerson.
Laverna Berquist leaves a darkened corner to be brightened by another ray of sunshine.
John and Mary Bernier leave the school without competent artists.
Caroline Berschens leaves for Lake Elmo to "sow her oat."
Harry Bishop leaves a number of hours in 123 to Charles Corrigan.
Lorraine Connors leaves her inferiority complex to Florence O'Neal.
Bernie Bjorkman leaves his powerful voice to Kenneth Lothson.
Margaret Bleck and Ella Mellecke leave to complete plans for their old ladies' home.
Ruth Bliss leaves her Amelia Earhart complex to Gert Noack.
Lois Bloom leaves the student council without a chef.
Mervin Bruce leaves for Summit to nurse old friends back to health.
Myrtle Burch leaves her dramatic ability to Barbara Buckley.
Raymond Burke leaves his mind. He always wants to think of school.
Andrew Conley leaves his ability of self-control to Warran Pominville.
Elizabeth Costello leaves the typewriters to cool off a bit.
Joseph Crimmins leaves the band—a better band.
Lyle Crippen leaves his blushes to Burton Jones.
Frank Croonquist leaves his scholarship attainments to Waldron Douglas.
Leonel Dick leaves his taking ways to an honest Sophomore.
Thomas Eichten and Forrest Enwald leave their curling irons to Murene Hoffman and Natalie Kolliner.
Russell Flowers leaves his volume of dancing instructions to Billy Easton.
Lenore Garey gives her guy to the mother of the unknown soldier.
Lucille Gaudian leaves her three cycle strut to the Marines.
Veronica Germain leaves her knowledge of "Canuck" French to Viola Desautels.
Clinton Giebler bequeaths his drag (?) with the faculty to Margaret Benham.
Marie Gilker leaves her foreign tendencies to Laura Heitmiller.
Lorene Giossi leaves to count cars at Searles Corner.
Goldie leaves his sugar to cure a few other hams.
Grace Hagstrom leaves her incendiary habits to Mary Brosious.
Grace Hartman doesn't leave Stanley for anyone.
Mary Lois Hemsch leaves Stillwater for Hollywood.
Norma Hering leaves her collection of knives, pins, notes, etc., to Marcia Mulvey.
Violet Hoppke leaves her beautiful eyes to Katherine Kunzelman.
Jerome Humphreys leaves nothing that can be carried away.
Margaret Hunt leaves for Withrow via Covered Wagon.
Warren Huss leaves us a bit of adive: take it easy or the angleworm will break.
Marjorie Iserman leaves for the west to reduce the waist (waste) out there.
Gertrude Janilla leaves some of the class singing "How Dry I Am."
Lowell Johnson leaves the Ford to Wendell to abuse some more.
Thorwald Johnson leaves the school with all possible speed.
Helen Kahl leaves her nice long daily walks to anybody that enjoys them.
Frederick Kalinoff leaves a resolution to make money on testimonials, and not medicine testimonials either.
Emma Kaufman leaves nothing. We don't know why; guess.
Josephine Qearney leaves her comeliness to Ruby Frederick. "Mark" our word.
Stanley Kelson left the ground when he disobeyed Dundr in football, but not for long.
Howard Kern leaves his place on the bus to Pete Lohman.
Edna Kiesow leaves her failing health to Phyllis Nelson.
Avis Klaman leaves a position open in the office force.
Muriel Klienschnitz leaves her daddy almost broke.
Gretchen Kolliner leaves her clinging disposition to Marie Brenner.
Harold Krog leaves on the next train for South Dakota (not to see Miss Ellingsen.)
William Krog leaves his Crocus strut to his many underclass admirers.
Kenneth Krongard leaves to pitch for the Lake Elmo colts, and we don't mean baseball.
Margaret Ann Lammers leaves the teachers without a means of conveyance.
Arlene Ledvina leaves her scholastic standings to Kenneth Lothson.
Mollie Leonard leaves her bashfulness to Lulu Groves.
Edith Lindberg leaves her Swedish accent to Charles Corrigan.
Franklin Loehr leaves his meager learning to someone who needs it—(Lucille Utecht.)
Margaret Loehr leaves Lewis Mosier plenty of lonely nights.

Frames that outlast the building

For sixty-nine years the elements battered against the "Old" Sawyer House at Stillwater, Minnesota. Rain, snow, winds and time tried to beat down this landmark. Yet, when torn down to make way for a modern structure, the White Pine of which it was constructed was ready for many more years resistance.

Andersen Frames today are made of this same weather and time resisting White Pine.

CLASS HISTORY

Late in 1925, there wandered into the halls of the Stillwater High, the largest, meekest group of rookies ever to enter the school. Mr. Johnson supervised the first meeting with some difficulty while the ballots said that John Luhmann was president, Clarence Reier, vice-president, and Gretchen Kolliner, secretary-treasurer. After much ado about nothing, the class party was held. The gym, nicely decorated, presented the appearance of a palace of unparalleled beauty, and every rookie had the time of his life.

The outstanding event in the Freshman year, especially to the boys, was the initiation. The boys of '29 still shudder when they hear of penny-pushing, blind boxing, soaked clothing, knotted hair and shoe-laces, and all of the other means of torture and discomfiture that the boys of the "S" club had contrived for that day.

The Freshmen wound up the year with a picnic at Prospect Park, Hudson, Wis.

Thanks to Mr. Jansen, our class adviser, the rookies pulled through with just a few difficulties, most of the class ready to call themselves "sophies" when vacation was over.

The Sophomore year started with a rush. A meeting had been held before the expiration of the Freshman year, so the following officers were all ready to take up their duties: Paul Noack, president; James O'Shaughnessy, vice-president, and Mark Bahneman, secretary-treasurer. Miss Kielty was elected peace-maker.

The biggest event of the Sophomore year was the class party. The Sophies rhythmically massaged the floor to the syncopated tunes of "Ernie's Rhythm Rustlers." It was a big day for the class athletes also, winning five trophies and brought forth promising material for scholastic activities.

Near the end of the year, a meeting was held and the Junior officers elected. A spirited campaign was conducted and the enthusiastic supporters of Jean McMillan carried her into the presidency with a landslide of votes. Lowell Johnson was elected vice-president, and Leroy Guldan landed the job of keeping the notes. The council members were John Luhmann and James O'Shaughnessy.

The Junior year was indeed a busy one. Every Junior had something to do with the success of the class. The class party lived up to all that was expected of it.

The Junior play "Seventeen" was well given and was very well attended; the Juniors, now having some money, began to work on the preparations for the prom.

The one-act play contest held at the school was won by Miss Kielty's well-coached twenty-niners with the play, "The Knave of Hearts." By winning this contest, the Juniors also won the right to represent the school in the one-act play contest held at Winona. With an almost perfect presentation, the Stillwater group won the beautiful first-place trophy.

A number of paper sales were held to replenish the class coffers, and finally the long-looked-for prom was held. The gym was elaborately and beautifully decorated with a Dutch scheme throughout; the tables were so arranged to form an "S." All that attended agreed that it was one of the best proms ever given at the school.

So, with three years of school behind them, the twenty-niners started to work through the year which separated them from the school of life. The Senior party was held, the last strictly Senior activity for the class, but the Seniors did not look at it from a pessimistic standpoint, judging from the hilarity and general good time. "Rollo's Wild Oat," the Senior play, was a success from every angle. Miss Armstrong's capable coaching produced a play that everyone enjoyed. The proceeds of the play went to pay for a radio set—the class gift to the school.

School went methodically on until the last few months of school, and then the classes had some diversion at the expense of the Seniors on crazy day. Then came the last assembly, closely followed by class night and graduation. Want to graduate? Yes. Want to leave the old school? No. What to do. Life is like that.

Agnes Lohmer leaves her horn-rimmed glasses to Charles Zimmerman.
John Luhmann leaves his serious outlook on life to his brother, Sid.
Veronica Lustig leaves her dislike of schoolwork to Mildred Peterson.
Mary McDonough leaves her matter-of-fact ways to Bob Peaslee.
Margaret McManus leaves her weakness to anyone who wants them.
Jean McMillan leaves her flighty ways to Myrtle Fulton.
Condell McPherson leaves his drag with Miss Hilesheim to John Simonet.
Louis Malloy leaves his busy appearance to Bill Stenwick.
Adeline Meisner leaves her bashful, demure nature to Lucille Iserman.
Carl Carl Meyers leaves to pipe his silver meerschaum under Paul Whiteman.
Wade Montgomery leaves for Deer Park to return a present.
Lewis Mosier leaves a bank account for next year's finance committee.
Clarence Naegele leaves Miss McShane with a sorrowful countenance.
Edna Nelson leaves to search for the ideal Swede (or Norwegian.)
Ruth Newman leaves $2,000,000 for investigation of the causes of such curly hair.
Katherine Niederer leaves her caustic wit to the makers of styptic pencil.
Paul Noack leaves his drag with Mr. Johnson to Bob Leffek.
Evald Olsenius leaves his formula for growth to Shrimp Schubert.
Swede O'Shaughnessy leaves his harem to drown in their tears.
Carolyn Oyer leaves in hot pursuit of the Irish. Ho-la! Ho-la!
Dorothy Pauley leaves for Monte Carlo with her winning ways.
John Paulsen leaves the Arrow to edit the Cornhusker Times at the Junction.
Helen Peterson leaves Merle with a vacant spot in his heart.
Ruth Peterson leaves to the strains of Lohengrin's musical march.
Marie Plourde leaves her book, "Beauty Hints," to Virginia Sheils.
Beatrice Rabe hasn't anything but love and that's reserved for that alumnus.
Merrill Rickers leaves the best town in the world for the second best.
Eleanor Rosen leaves in quest of the answer to "Why Men Leave Home."
Evelyn Roy leaves a pull with Miss Gebhard to Agnes Lothson.
Dorothy Salmore leaves a seat in the Flame Room (123) to someone else.
Hollis Sawyer leaves the Auditorium for the Minnesota.
Elizabeth Schelander leaves Louis Malloy without a partner.
Harriet Schubert leaves to have her body lifted.
Helen Schwartz leaves for the Chicago Symphony.
Bernice Scullen leaves for the Chinese Missions with the Rev. Snozzlegrass.
Augusta Sherrard leaves on long walks with her beau.
Sandra Simonson leaves for Hudson. And why?
Phyllis Slocum leaves her athletic ability to Ethel Lund.
Ellen Sommers leaves the recipe for that "Golden Glint" finish to Lulu Groves.
Dorothy Sontag leaves for the Bank of Afton. An honest girl, indeed.
Wilson Staples leaves the feminine faculty broken-hearted and the men relieved of a troublesome burden.
Faith Steinbeiser leaves Miss Keenan's class in search of someone to cook for.
Howard Stone leaves his Ford in the same state of disrepair.
Maynard Stone leaves on a long voyage to the Piers.
Richard Strebel leaves again.
Eleanor Swanson leaves her blush in vain. No one has any use for it nowadays.
Rachel Taft leaves to become the bride of Olaf Torgerson of Scandia.
Warren Van Tassel leaves Walter's store forever.
Elinor Walker leaves for the "Arthuh" Casey "Playuhs."
Rhiner Wiess doesn't leave a thing, but accepts anything that comes along.
Sherman Wick leaves pleasant memories of the last two parties.
Ethylyn Wienke leaves her personality to Francis Grady.
Alma Wolf leaves to accept a position with the Otisville library.
